'Hair today but gone tomorrow' for police officers in Madison

Should police officers blend in with the rest of today's long and short-haired society, or should stricter standards be applied? The "long and short of it" is being debated in a number of cities, including Madison, where the "haircut war," or at least a battle of that war, was won Wednesday by the advocates of "take it off."

Madison Patrolman Donald Bridick and Madison Investigator Paul Bargiel were suspended Tuesday morning by Chief of Police Frank Dutko until they complied with a new uniform and grooming regulation that went into effect Tuesday. Bargiel returned to work Wednesday and Bridick today.

The grooming order was written and issued by the Board of Police Commissioners and the chief. On Jan. 4, the order was posted in order to give the officers time to comply, Dutko said.

The regulations are based on those of the Illinois State Police.

The controversy came over length and style of hair of various officers. Seven of the 16 officers appear to have long hair on the department's 1974 calendar.

Several Madison officers complied with the order shortly after the notice was posted.

Police commissioners drawing up the order were Ed Ray Dubish, president, Stanley Skubish, secretary, and John Bridick, member. Commissioner Bridick is an uncle of suspended Patrolman Bridick.

"I think there is a definite difference between long hair and stylish hair," Patrolman Bridick has said.

"In strict compliance with the order, my hair was perhaps a bit long, but it was styled, always neat, and not below my collar."

"I do not think the length or style of an officer's hair determines how good a policeman he is. What does determine a good officer is his dedication to duty and his education."

Bargiel will graduate in June with an associate degree in law enforcement from Belleville Area College.

Bargiel obtained a haircut Tuesday and Bridick did Wednesday.

Bargiel's view is that "police officers have rights as well as any citizen. Rules on length and style of hair have nothing whatever to do with an officer's efficiency."

"I feel these new rules are an infringement on our constitutional rights. One of the important aspects of anyone doing a good job is his morale."

Propose record Levee spending

By HARRY BARNES Press-Record Staff Writer

A record high general fund operating budget of $1,880,700—projecting a deficit of $488,929—has been posted for public inspection by the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The new budget, which totals $2,368,929 for all fund accounts, including an $859,215 payment of bond principal and interest, will be subject to a public hearing and levee board action in February. The hearing date will be announced later.

General fund appropriations for the levee district's 1974 fiscal year are increased $304,025 over the $1,299,975 in expenditures projected for 1973.

The levee district's fiscal year is the same as the calendar year.

In addition to the general fund expenditures, the new tentative budget sets up appropriations of $25,000 for the Municipal Retirement Fund, $25,000 for insurance and the $859,215 bond payment. These accounts are financed by special tax extensions which will be sufficient to fund these items without deficits, according to the budget figures.

In the general fund, however, the budget projects available revenue at $1,391,771, or $488,929 less than the $1,880,700 in anticipated expenditures.

Virtually all of the general fund increase is in two items—a $610,000 budget for project costs, compared to $500,075 budgeted last year, and a $950,000 appropriation for general maintenance, an increase of $475,950 over last year's maintenance budget of $474,050.

Project costs are budgeted for work on the levee district's 29 different projects, including pumping stations, drainage canals and ditches. Levee district officials said the higher cost for maintenance is based on anticipation of heavy flooding in the area in the spring.

Records show that because of last year's flooding, pumping operations continued over a period of eight months, around the clock, seven days a week, they said.

An item of $25,000 set up in the 1973 general fund budget for a public relations department was not carried over in this year's proposed appropriations.

Budget figures indicate there is no anticipated problem in the bond fund because of reserves required in all bond accounts. Anticipated available funds in the overall bond account for 1974 is projected at $2,012,566, from which the 1974 payment of $859,215 will be made. This will leave a balance of $1,153,351.

Paper shortage plagues schools

The Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night discussed ways to cope with growing shortages of supplies, including paper and gasoline.

Because the present supplier apparently will be unable to provide enough paper of various kinds for classroom and school office use, the board authorized administrators to purchase needed quantities of paper wherever it is possible to do so at reasonable cost.

Whether the gasoline outlook will permit field trips by classes is still unknown.

Rather than barring such things, the board empowered administrators to use their judgment as the spring semester progresses and as fuel availability becomes clearer.

Bernard Ball proposed development of commercial machine shops and other businesses in Central Junior High School, which has been idle since last spring and is deteriorating. The plan was

Town seeks to provide storm line

The legal question of whether Namekoi Township can install a $50,000 underground storm water drainage system in the Parkview Estates area was discussed by the Namekoi Town Board Monday night. The issue was referred to the township's attorney for an opinion.

It long has been held that the township could not legally install drainage improvements, an area which is reserved for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District. The issue was referred to the township's attorney for an opinion.

Louis Whitsell, township superintendent, contends the Parkview Estates line may be legal for the township to install because water from the present dead-end ditch in the Doherty Slough area.

He said he feels the township highway commissioner may make such improvements when a roadway is involved. Albert Bell, highway commissioner, and Eugene Gargac, chairman of the township's road and bridge committee, disagree with Whitsell's idea and expressed their doubts in the night's meeting. Bell said he would like to do the work but did not wish to violate the law.

Whitsell brought the long-standing Parkview Estates drainage plan to a head last week by mailing opinion ballots to residents of the area, asking if they supported the township installing an underground drainage line there to alleviate flooding.

The residents responded in favor and Monday night Whitsell presented copies of the ballots to Douglas Teeter, town clerk. Whitsell also gave Teeter a formal request that the $15,000 needed for the line be included in the 1974-75 fiscal year budget

Further regulation of massage parlors

The City Council of Madison on Tuesday night adopted an additional ordinance further outlining regulations governing masseurs and masseuses in the city. It will be added to an earlier ordinance governing licensing of massage parlors, health clubs and similar businesses.

The ordinance calls for any person engaged in the activity of a masseur or masseuse to pay a $75 annual license fee; show proof that he or she has taken and satisfactorily passed a course of study amounting to or being equivalent to 12 semester hours in physical therapy at an accredited junior college or its equivalent; and satisfactorily pass a written examination given by the city clerk.

Persons interested in obtaining a license must make written application with the city clerk at least seven days prior to the examination, and pay an examination fee of $50 seven days prior to the exam.

Any person, firm or corporation that violates or fails to comply with any provision could be fined up to $500 for each offense, and every day the party continues contrary to the new law is regarded as a new offense.

In other business, Mayor Mike Sasyk reported that G. H. Sternberg & Co. had inspected storm sewers near the Army installation and is working with the Corp of Engineers on a plan to de-water the sewers.

The inspection revealed many sand boils and a need for collar joints and other repairs before serious and more costly breaks occur.

Superintendent of Streets Elmer Smith explained that he had learned that the sewers were designed as dry sewers, but the Corp of Engineers with its pumping has been using them as wet sewers and water is stored in them.

Mayor Sasyk reported that he had attended another meeting in East St. Louis in regard to a secondary sewage treatment facility and the controversial Metro East Regional Treatment Association (MERTA).

He told the council nothing new has developed since a meeting in Madison Jan. 3. Most mayors of the 12 cities involved still favor more equal representation rather than the three-man board proposed he said.

Building Inspector John Dutko reported that condemnation proceedings are being started on properties located at 905 Grand Ave., 924 State St., 1617 and 1647 Fifth St., 1693 Second St. and 912 State St.

It was pointed out by Mayor Sasyk that motor vehicle tags are free until Feb. 15, after which there will be a $5 charge for autos and $4 for motorcycles. The cost of truck stickers varies, depending on the size of the truck.

City Attorney Casper Nighobian reported on a Southwestern (Illinois) Metropolitan Area Planning Commission meeting on a water drainage system based on natural county area based on natural drainage. There are 240 official and semi-official bodies SIM.

PAC needs to deal with in developing the plan, he related.

Mayor Sasyk praised the legal staff of the city for its work. He said that he calls on the lawyers continually and they "do much work for the city that no one ever knows about."

George Filcoff Jr. is the corporation counsel for Madison and Nighobian is city attorney.

The City Council granted permission for Madison Junior Service Club to establish a "road block" for a March of Dimes drive Feb. 2 at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue.

QUAD-CITY STREET HAZARDS are developing throughout the area in the form of chukholes caused by ice and severe cold in recent weeks. Repairs for ice-damaged area streets

Repair of Quad-City area streets damaged by the intense cold, snow and ice during the past weeks was under way today by street department workers of Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Officials in all three communities reported many streets are damaged by chukholes and buckling that present a serious hazard to motorists.

Extensive damage was caused to Granite City streets, according to Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, who said the more serious conditions developed on West Pontoon Road, 20th Street and Madison Avenue and on parts of Niedringhaus Avenue.

Granite City street workers began applying cold patch to broken street surfaces Tuesday in an effort to fill chukholes and smooth off rippled surfaces. Portell said that breaks in the streets may continue for several weeks until the streets become completely dry again.

No serious cost factor is involved in the repairs since such work is budgeted as regular maintenance work. Portell added Granite City has a street crew of 25 regular workers who have been assigned to the snow and ice cleanup during the past several days.

In Madison, street crews also were working to repair broken street surfaces. They are now repairing all east and west streets, and then will begin on north and south streets.

Jay Maurer, Venice street superintendent, said that while there are some chukholes in Venice streets, damage there was not extensive.

The job of removing snow and ice from city streets began as soon as milder temperatures

Federal policies bar steel mill expansion, aggravate shortages

By PAUL B. AKIN

The year 1973 was both good and bad for farmers, but the good outweighed the bad and most Madison County farmers recorded high net farm incomes.

And they are making 1974 farm production plans with optimism about good profit prospects—but with their plans tempered by probable shortages of certain production items and by higher operating costs.

Higher prices received by farmers for livestock and livestock products and farm commodities accounted for much of the profit success farmers experienced in 1973.

The 1973 farm season started with farmers under stress. They experienced an adverse harvest season in 1972.

Many 1972 crops were not harvested until late winter and spring of 1973 because of wet weather and muddy field conditions. Delayed harvest resulted in substantial field losses of grain.

Everyone remembers the flood of 1973. Farmers were late getting crops planted throughout Madison County. Muddy fields were the problem.

Corn and soybeans were planted later than optimum in 1973. Many soybeans and some corn were planted during July. However, late summer and fall weather, favored late-planted crops.

And ideal weather for crop growth and for harvest continued into very late fall.

Corn and soybean yields in Madison County in 1973 were slightly below average.

But higher prices more than made up the difference for lower yields, and farm incomes were much higher than those of past years.

Live beef cattle and hog prices peaked in August, 1973. Farmers received an average of $56.50 a hundred pounds for hogs and $53.20 a hundred pounds for beef cattle that month.

Then prices steadily dropped to an average during November of $40.40 a hundred pounds for hogs and $37.80 a hundred pounds for beef cattle.

Livestock and dairy enterprises were profitable in 1973.

But now that livestock feed prices are two and one-half times higher than a year ago, and other production costs substantially higher, livestock producers will need to do some close figuring to earn a reasonable profit during 1974.

They will look for ways to cut costs, particularly feed costs.

Agricultural production in 1971 will be a whole new ball game. Cost-price ratios will be difficult to build. There may not be adequate supplies

They will look for ways to cut costs, particularly feed costs.

Agricultural production in 1971 will be a whole new ball game. Cost-price ratios will be difficult to build. There may not be adequate supplies of farm machinery, parts, fuel, fertilizer and certain chemicals.

There are no set-aside acres nor conserving base acres in the government farm program for 1974. The emphasis this year will be on production.

Demand for farm products likely will continue at a high level.

There will likely be farm marketing problems. Grain markets often respond as they do to anticipated events as much to actual events.

Will the extremely large changes in grain prices in a short period of time continue to occur in 1974 like they did in 1973?

What costs and prices will livestock producers' budget in their production plans? Will there be transportation problems of moving farm commodities?

But most farmers continue with the attitude that "first we'll produce, and then we'll do the pricing."

In summary, most of the gain in farm income during 1973 came from the higher prices received for farm products.

Food prices increased, but farmers get only 42 per cent of the consumer's food dollar.

Prospects are for continued high demand for farm products in 1974.

There will be shortages of some goods. But there is nothing in sight now to prevent the production of adequate food and other farm products for people—provided they are willing to pay prices that will cover all costs of production.

Seebold heads Kiwanis races

Kiwanian Bill Seebold again will serve as chairman of the Kiwanis-sponsored boat races to be held in mid-July, Howard Eberhart, president of the Evening Kiwanis Club announced at a meeting Monday in Charlie's Restaurant.

Seebold told the group he hopes he can schedule the Midwestern Regional Championship races here at that time.

According to Seebold, the gas situation could affect the drivers coming from distant cities, but said it is too early to tell.

Kiwanian Roy Feder reported that the club's three wheelchairs are all in use. The Evening Kiwanis Club maintains three wheelchairs to loan area families that can not afford them.

Marvin Barnes, club program chairman, announced that a judge of the Third Judicial District will be on next week's program to discuss court procedures and the criminal situation.

Condition of sewers chief problem facing city in '74

By PAUL SCHULER
Mayor,
City of Granite City

There are many areas of our economy that show great promise.

The contemplated new Granite City Township building which will serve many functions besides bringing government closer to the people; the interest Volkswagen is showing in our area.

The construction of the new Archer Daniels Midland plant; and the overall traffic plan, including an overpass to West Granite.

However, the present condition of the sewers throughout our city has the greatest single effect on our economic outlook for the short term.

The sewer breaks are being caused by an abnormally high water table—which in certain areas of our city is not affected by industrial pumping of ground water—is within eight feet to 10 feet of the surface of the ground.

The sewers were laid in those areas, as alluvial town, 12 feet to 17 feet below the ground and they are, in effect, under water.

The rise in the water table has been caused by a combination of heavy rainfall in the past few years, the reduction of industrial pumping of ground water from 30 million gallons per day to 10 million gallons per day, and the worst flood of the Mississippi River in 200 years.

As with any problem, the first step in solving it is to determine the cause and we feel that this has been done.

Now that the cause or causes have been determined, we are attempting to determine the correct solution. To do this, we have utilized the Corps of Engineers, the Geological Survey of the University of Illinois, and our own engineer and hydrologists.

Various proposals are presently being considered as a final solution. For the present, we are repairing the breaks and keeping the system working.

As can be imagined, the cost is high—well over a million dollars to date—and we are seeking appropriate federal assistance to help bear the costs.

In view of the developments of the past few weeks, we feel that guarded optimism is warranted and the sewer problem, though great, is on its way to solution.

We will keep our citizens informed as to our progress on this matter as it progresses.

The other areas of concern such as Doherty Slough, Maryville Road, minimum housing standards and the downtown business district are being worked on by the appropriate governmental bodies and citizen groups, and improvements are hoped for in the near future.

At the close of the first eight months of my term as mayor, I wish to thank all of the citizens

Support Illinois as site of coal gasification plant

Cong. Melvin Price, Democrat of this 23rd Illinois District, and Senator Adlai Stevenson, Democrat-Ilinois, have joined Governor Dan Walker in calling Illinois the best site for the nation's first coal gasification demonstration plant and the coal resources center currently under consideration by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Noting that Dr. Dixie Lee Ray, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, has recommended spending $2,175,000,000 over the next five years for development of coal as an energy resource, Price and Stevenson said:

"With its vast coal deposits, waterways, and ongoing coal utilization technology, the state of Illinois is the logical choice for future coal conversion and research initiatives. Governor Walker is to be commended for advocating Illinois as the superior location."

Price, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, and Sen. Stevenson, currently chairing energy hearings of the Senate Commerce Committee, noted that the coal research center to which Walker referred in his State of the State message "is the kind of thinking which needs to be done about the Illinois coal play in the energy crisis."

The $2.175 billion coal utilization program is part of the A.E.C.'s proposed 5-year, $10 billion energy research and development package which is designed to put the nation on an energy self-sufficient basis by 1980.

"We will do everything we can to move these projects forward," Price, and Sen. Stevenson said.

Clark refinery being expanded

By W. M. BRUNET
Financial Consultant
Clark Oil & Refining Corp.

Clark Oil & Refining Corp., a major Midwestern refinery-maker, is virtually no crude oil production, has been immensely affected by recent changes in the petroleum business stemming from the much-publicized "energy shortage" conditions in the United States.

With crude oil reserves in this country decreasing and demand mounting rapidly, the U.S. has become more than ever dependent on imported oil from the Middle East, Canada, Africa and other prolific producing areas.

The crude short refinery-maker, under these changed conditions, is enabled to import its needs from foreign areas at a price.

Hence, profits for them as well as for the industry generally will be less.

The transportation, refining and marketing sectors of the business rather than from production as heretofore. This situation consequently tends to act as a great leveler and places a company such as Clark Oil right beside the major integrated petroleum giants. However, even under the best of circumstances, in 1973 strong demand and increasing prices boosted Clark's nine months earnings to a new all-time high, which tend to play down the impressive results gained thus far.

These problems are threefold: assured supply of crude for company refineries; prices which reflect ever-increasing crude oil costs as well as other operating costs; and adequate increases in the refinery capacity to enable the company to meet growing demand.

Far from being daunted by the problems facing it, Clark is gearing its operations to meet these challenges as it has adapted to changing conditions in the past.

Insofar as crude oil supply is concerned, Clark Oil, until 1971, purchased substantially all its requirements from domestic sources. The change in supply position since that year has been significant, dropping from 54 per cent to 19 per cent.

Clark expected that 1973 needs for existing refinery capacity will generally be met from the areas supplying this year's demands—Canada, the U.S., Nigeria, Algeria and Iran—along with new Persian Gulf sources.

The company is actively engaged in securing the roughly 100,000 barrels a day needed for its refining facilities at Chicago and Wood River for 1974.

Clark announced earlier that its Wood River refinery unit will be expanded by 42,000 b-d, with completion expected by the end of the short quarter of 1974.

Allowing for possible delays, assuming that the refinery will be on stream at the end of 1974, after start-up operations are completed, additional crude oil supplies must be ready by that time.

It is worthy of note that a 27,000 b-d capacity platforming unit is under construction as part of the expansion program at Wood River and that work on a gas oil desulfurization project is proceeding.

The platformer will enable an increase in gasoline production while the desulfurization facility permits processing of larger amounts of high sulfur crude oil, typical of Middle East crude.

It was announced at the end of July that negotiations were under way with African and Persian Gulf sources to secure contracts for 1974.

Requirements, which include the additional needs of the Wood River refinery.

In November, Clark was among five U.S. oil companies signing a memorandum of understanding for a proposed 500,000 b-d petroleum refinery to be built jointly, 50 per cent by the National Iranian Oil Co., and the remaining 50 per cent ownership divided between Clark and the four other U.S. companies.

Timing results of feasibility studies, the refinery could be in operation in 1977. Should results of the feasibility studies warrant construction with Clark a participant, the Iranian plant would make available to Clark 10,000 barrels per day of refined products—and possibly also a secure source of crude oil—for importation to the U.S.

Phase IV oil regulations as defined by the Clark of Living Council have allowed Clark as a refinery to pass on crude oil cost increases on a monthly basis for three refined products: gasoline, fuel oil and diesel fuel.

Phase IV oil regulations is granted at all levels of distribution and is on a dollar-for-dollar basis, including increases in fractions of cents. Accordingly, Clark announced a price increase to its dealers and other customers on Nov. 2.

Clark Oil recognizes, however, that over the longer term its ability to pass on additional crude oil costs only on a dollar-for-dollar basis would result in an erosion of profit margins.

Since an important part of the effort by the petroleum industry to overcome the energy shortage involves construction of new refinery units, restrictive price controls on the refining business would be of direct harm.

A high level of profitability is necessary to generate funds for the huge investments required to provide the American consumer with the energy to continue his economic well being.

Clark Oil's new 45,000 b-d refinery expansion program at Wood River plant is a case in point. The Chase Manhattan Bank estimates capital requirements to achieve U.S. total about $600 billion for the 15-year period to 1985.

Presently, and in the foreseeable conditions in the energy business are serving Clark Oil well. The good level of product prices, particularly gasoline, Clark's major product, along with maximum refinery utilization have resulted in a new high level of earnings.

Nineteen seventy-three was the best earnings year in Clark's history.

Reflecting the favorable results, Clark's board of directors voted a special dividend of ten cents per share in addition to the regular year-end quarterly dividend, also ten cents a share.

The board also approved an increase in regular quarterly dividends from ten cents to 12½ cents per share for 1974.

With a special dividend paid Jan. 10 and increased regular quarterly dividends, Clark's properly divided dividend payout for 1973 is 60 cents per share, an increase of 50 per cent over the 40 cents per share paid in 1973.

taxes than actually were paid. She said she took the action because she feared a drastic cut in the size of the checks if the government found it had overpaid the township.

The town auditors had hoped to authorize the new township garage at Monday's meeting, but were informed specifications have not been completed.

Stress qualifications of school bus drivers

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau
Parents are particularly when it comes to the safety of their children. A babysitter and pediatrician are chosen with care.

To should be school bus drivers in whose hands the safety of over one million Illinois youngsters are entrusted each day, and the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction has spelled out qualifications for all school bus drivers in keeping with that concern.

At present in the state, school bus transportation involves over 10 million children, over 10,000 vehicles and more than 16,000 regular and substitute drivers, according to Supt. Michael J. Sakalis. No school bus, regardless of its known safety measures, is safer than the driver who operates it, it is felt.

Therefore, the school bus driver in Illinois has been recognized as a person having a tremendous responsibility in the overall educational program.

To this end, a list of qualifications of drivers, for both small and large vehicles, has been assembled in "School Bus Transportation," a publication issued by the OSPI's department of pupil services. Drivers of small vehicles, defined as automobiles, station wagons or caravans used to transport not more than 10 passengers, have the same responsibilities as school bus drivers, but their requirements are somewhat less defined.

A complete physical exam, tuberculosis test and a current, properly classified driver's license must be obtained.

In addition, the vehicle must be properly insured and inspected by testing at a designated testing lane certified by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

In addition to the driver's license and health exam, which emphasizes the condition of the heart, vision and auditory faculties, a school bus driver applicant must be 21 years old with at least three consecutive years of driving experience immediately preceding the date of application.

An applicant will be turned down for any one of these occurrences: conviction of more than two traffic offenses within a two-year period preceding application, more than one accident within that period, display of poor driving habits or conduct which indicates a disrespect for traffic laws or the safety of others, in the opinion of the OSPI.

Also causes for rejection are conviction for reckless driving, driving while intoxicated, or manslaughter or reckless homicide.

operation of a moving vehicle during the three years preceding application.

School bus permits are issued by the OSPI through the superintendent of the educational service region upon compliance with the regulations.

They are renewable each year if the holder obtains a valid first-aid certificate, attends instructional meetings called by local and county authorities, and passes a school bus operation test on local and state laws.

After issuance, a permit may be revoked, or suspended if the secretary of state determines the driver is no longer qualified to hold a license or if the driver is convicted of reckless driving.

The licensing of bus drivers is a function of the Secretary of State's Office's driver license division and the OSPI.

State clearing-house for federal fund requests involves much work and time

So your agency wants to build a "highway," complete a sewage collection system, purchase land for an outdoor education and conservation site, secure a new, fully equipped patrol car. And you need federal funds.

Good luck.

Federal regulations require the agency requesting a federal grant to work through and with the State Clearinghouse or, if applicable, one of the 12 Sub-state Clearinghouses.

The federal program was initiated about three years ago. Groundwork for state compliance in Illinois was begun during the administration of former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie where it was located within the now defunct Office of Planning and Development.

The two-man State Clearinghouse presently works out of the Bureau of the Budget. "Basically, the State Clearinghouse searches for reasons, pro and con, for going ahead with the projects," Brad Leonard of the Bureau explained this week.

Before formal application is made to the federal funding agency, a "letter of intent," including basic information about the size and purpose of the project, is sent to the appropriate Substate Clearinghouse.

There are 12 Substate Clearinghouses encompassing 33 Illinois counties and several counties from neighboring states. They generally are regional planning commissions and were not solely organized as clearinghouses.

If the area affected by the project does not fall within the jurisdiction of a Substate Clearinghouse, the letter is sent directly to the state counterpart which ultimately receives all letters.

They, in turn, begin a preliminary review of the proposal and route the letter to the appropriate state agencies for comment.

"The Clearinghouse has 100 federal programs that—because of their impact on both state and local governments—Congress has mandated that we look into them and the possible ramifications foreseen by appropriate state agencies," Leonard said.

For example, an application from the state Department of Transportation for money to build a new highway may result in Clearinghouse contacts with the Departments of Conservation, Business and Economic Development, Agriculture and Mines and Minerals and the Environmental Protection Agency.

In each department, a person known for expertise in a given area will be contacted as to how the proposal will affect the the comments the Clearinghouse passes on," asserted Leonard. "They generally do, but not always."

If the federal funding agency does not go along with the Clearinghouse's comments, it must notify the state.

The governor's office receives a copy of the comments and the governor may make some of his own.

"The governor rarely does this, explained a member of Gov. Daniel Walker's staff. "By the time the proposals are at this stage, he has already made his feelings known."

And all of this takes time. "The time period involved in all of this varies greatly," said Leonard, who is a former member of the federal Bureau of the Budget. "It just depends on the applicant."

"This has taken a long time in implementation. It is being done in every state, and the problems have been in basic implementation. Only now is it becoming workable."

Evaluation key role of children's center

Open house is being held from 3 to 5:30 p.m. today at the Maryville Children's Center, Maryville, a facility of the state Department of Children and Family Services.

Located on Route 157 between Edwardsville and Collinsville, it offers temporary care for up to 12 neglected or dependent boys between ages six and 18.

It also has administrative responsibility for three emergency foster homes for girls, one each in East St. Louis, Belleville and Wood River, with a total capacity of 15.

More children served are from Madison, St. Clair, Monroe and Randolph counties.

The center consists of a gymnasium, administration building and "cottage" dormitory on a 15-acre campus. It is formerly an Assembly of God children's home.

Youths stay at the Maryville Center or its foster homes approximately two weeks. While there, each child's physical, emotional and social needs are evaluated. Appropriate service plans are then made to meet these needs.

"In the short time a child is here, staff, teachers and volunteers all work together to determine the best possible plan for him," reports James DeLeonardis, Maryville administrator.

"Our goal is to reunite the child with his family whenever possible. Foster care, adoption, institutional care or referral to another agency are other alternatives."

Maryville accepts referrals on an around-the-clock basis. They may come from social workers, hospitals, police departments or other persons or agencies. Runaways are also accepted for care.

Boys attend school on the center's grounds. Classes are taught by a teacher and teacher's aide from the Collinsville School District. Girls attend public schools near their foster homes.

Parents of children under care at the center are required to reimburse the state in whole or part for services to their children.

Questions or referrals for admission to Maryville Children's Center are directed to the Department's East St. Louis area office, 310 North 10th St., East St. Louis (phone 874-2209).

Fine home basketball games this weekend

Varsity cage action at its best is in store for weekend basketball fans on Tuesday and at home, beginning with today's 6:45 p.m. makeup game between Okaville and Madison on the Trojans' home court.

Fierce competition continues tomorrow, with Granite City High School North at O'Fallon at 6:30 p.m. Madison playing host to Pacific, Mo., in a 6:30 p.m. clash. Venice at East St. Louis Lincoln at 8 p.m. and Edwardsville at Granite City South at 8 p.m.

On Saturday, Madison will travel for a 6:45 p.m. clash at Pinckneyville, Venice will host the Eagles of St. Henry of Belleville at 8 p.m., the East St. Louis Flyers will meet GCHS South head at 8 p.m. at South gym, and Edwardsville plays host to GCHS North at 8 p.m.

All of the opponents the local squads have to face, the South Warriors in search of a first victory will meet the cream of the crop. Edwardsville, with an 8-2 record, is fresh from capturing its own holiday tournament in which it defeated GCHS North 68-54 and Madison 70-51. Edwardsville handed Madison its second loss at the hands of the Tigers last weekend by a score of 76-62.

The Tigers are headed by Dick Brown and Tom Gammill, who between them tallied 68 points in their first defeat of Madison. They are assisted in scoring by all-star Greg Ahort, Jim Burkhardt and star rebounder Bruce Heister. The 9-4 East St. Louis Flyers, downed 68-59 by Madison in semifinal play, are boosted by a big 61-50 victory over the Alton Redwings. The Flyers handed Alton its first defeat of the season in 12 outings.

The East St. Louis squad entered this season with one returning letterman, Pierre Duren, a 6-4 senior. Duren has been shooting both hot and cold thus far, scoring 25 points in one game and hitting only six in another. For the season, Duren is averaging 16 points a game.

The Flyers are supported by junior Hubert Hosenstein, who is 'tough on the boards,' is aiding the offensive manning the team averaging 12.7 rebounds a game.

Assisting the two on the court against the Warriors will be 6-6 Anthony Williams, Charles Anthony and Edward Vaughn. South, which has been playing after losing during the weekend to Cahokia, also has only one returning letterman, Mike Martinez. Martinez got off to a slow start in the season but in his recent outings has been scoring in the 30's for South.

Tom Schooley, Keith Gehling, Dale Williams and Kirk Champion have all given overwhelming support to the Warriors effort.

By limiting its fouls while capitalizing on an enemy mistakes, the local squad hopes to give Edwardsville and the Flyers a battle.

Upset-minded GCHS North will attempt to increase its season record to 6-4 tomorrow at the expense of the Panthers at O'Fallon. O'Fallon is now even at 6-6.

Led by senior cager Kent Hinrichs, who has been averaging 20.4 points a game, O'Fallon has scored 262 field goals against its opponents in nine outings. Hinrichs made 75 of them.

The North Steelers, led by Dave Schefke, will carry their 6-2-1 topping of previous undefeated Beese-Mater Dei into the game. Schefke posted 33 points for North against Beese.

On Saturday, the Steelers will attempt to avenge their Edwardsville cage tourney loss to the host school when the Tigers play host to North.

North failed to overcome its first period deficit, 18-6, at Edwardsville during the holiday affair and trailed by 15 points most of the game.

Other than Schefke, the Steelers will round out their squad with Gary Simpson, Larry Jones, Daryl Page and Mike Waldo.

Trojan Coach Larry Graham has told the Press-Record, "For us to stop the striking power of Okaville, we are going to have to stop Dan Schuessler and Phil Leadenicker."

He noted that Schuessler, at 6-6, and Leadenicker, at 6-4, are the key to the Rocket attack. Okaville utilized the passing efficiency of the two players in its 68-56 defeat of GCHS North earlier in the season. Schuessler would draw the 'opponents' guards on him as he brought the ball down the middle of the court.

Once under the basket, he would pass off to the outside to Leadenicker, who almost always was alone, the end result being a lot of Rocket baskets from the long-shooting cager.

Madison will be led into action by Chris Stanley and Ron Glasper, two of the stars of the Edwardsville clash. On the court also as starters will be the Rudolph Bradley, Alvin Wigfall and Ken Henke.

Pinckneyville is presently in last place in the Southwest Egyptian Conference standings. Pacific, Mo., will face Madison fresh from a 62-52 win over New Haven Tuesday.

Pacific was led in scoring in that contest by Bill Tipton, who tallied 17 points.

Venice favored in Dupo Tourney

The Venice Red Devils, now 9-2, have been chosen by the coaches of the participating schools in next week's Dupo Cage Tournament as a favorite to capture the title (the second consecutive year).

Valmeyer, which fell 73-61 to the local squad during the weekend, is seeded second in the annual event, and a newcomer to the tournament.

Valmeyer and Bethalto will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday to kick off the five-day competition and Columbia and Fox High will clash at 8 p.m. the same day. Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., Venice and St. Henry will take to the court and will be followed by Dupo against Wood River at 8 p.m.

Lincoln recently upped its winning record to 4-2 by sharp shooting of Bernie Lewis, who scored 30 points, and in the 37 points tallied by 5-8 Clark Walters.

The Venice St. Henry clash Saturday promises to be a preview of their upcoming meet in the Dupo tournament. The Belleville squad already felt the sting of the Red Devils earlier this season by a 38-45 loss to the local squad.

St. Henry outscored Venice in the second and third quarters of their first get together on the 16 points earned by Bill Ward and the 14 points of Don Housenau and Kevin Lloyd, but fell behind in the final period to play to lose.

Grigsby and Coolidge at the game. Complementing St. Henry on the court also will be Jim Curdiss and Kevin LaKamp.

Red Devil Henry, who scored 33 points against Valmeyer, will lead the Venice squad into action with the assistance of Grigsby, Sittler, Mike Henry, Reggie Gardner and Mike Logan.

Guelker hailed as U.S. soccer coach of year

Bob Guelker, varsity soccer coach and athletic director at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been chosen as "coach of the year" by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America in this group's mid-January national meeting at Boston. The award was the first such honor ever given by the coaches' group.

Going with the award to Guelker was a $2,000 scholarship to be awarded to a SIUE athlete at the rate of $500 for each of the next four years.

The veteran coach, whose SIUE soccer team posted a record 12 shutouts in an 11-1 season, was also presented a silver bowl. His Cougars were No. 1 nationally for much of the past season.

Both of the Cougar soccer losses were to arch-rival St. Louis, which repeated as NCAA Division I champion at the Orange Bowl in Miami early in the month. The tie (0-0) was with the University of Missouri St. Louis Riverhawks, who went on to win the NCAA Division II title in 1973.

The cougars won Division II in 1972, the first year of the competition, but did not defend the title when SIUE decided to move up to the major school group.

Competing in Division I play this autumn, the Cougars advanced to the midwest finals and lost 5-0 to St. Louis University 3-0 at Busch Stadium.

Guelker initiated soccer at SIUE in the fall of 1967, the inaugural season for varsity sports at the local university.

Expect 1,200 at coaching clinic

Early response from area high school coaches indicates a possible record attendance at the Coach-of-the-Year Football Clinic Feb. 15, 16, 17 at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn.

Last year, 1,200 coaches from eight states turned out for the two-day sessions, held under auspices of the American Football Coaches Association.

Paul "Bear" Bryant, head football coach of the University of Alabama, has been named 1973 "coach of the year" by the AFCA, winning the honor for an unprecedented third time, and will headline an all-star group of coaches at the 1974 clinic.

Bill Yeoman, head coach of Houston University, the nation's number nine ranked football team, will headline the Astro Blue Bonnet Bowl, will join Bryant as a clinic speaker.

On the same docket with Bryant and Yeoman will be Pete Elliott of the University of Miami, Fran Curci, head football coach of Kentucky, Alabama assistants Jimmie Sharpe, offensive line coach, and Bill Oliver, secondary coach, and Doug Weaver, newly appointed head coach at Southern Illinois University.

Daugherty. The clinic is not limited to high school and college coaches only, but is open to the general public and all "little league" coaches.

The registration fee is $12.50 per person when paid in advance, and $15 on the day of the clinic.

Junior high mat tourney Friday

More than 104 seventh and eighth grade grapplers will represent eight area schools at 6 p.m. Friday in an attempt to capture the third annual Prather Junior High Invitational Wrestling Tournament at the Prather boys' gymnasium.

Schools participating are the host school and Grigsby, Coolidge, Edwardsville, Jerseyville, Mascoutah, Roxana and Murphysboro.

Prather was second in the tournament last year behind two-time champion Kirby of Missouri when the annual classic was held for ninth grade wrestling teams only.

The scheduling of wrestling seasons has remained the same, however, with first round mat action starting at 6 p.m. Friday and the second round at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Thirteen weight classes have been established for the event—75, 82, 90, 98, 105, 112, 118, 126, 135, 144, 155, 170 and heavyweight.

In order to facilitate matters and eliminate last-minute pairings on the first day of competition, contestants are paired by chance drawings at a meeting of coaches from the participating schools Wednesday.

The tentative lineups for the local schools (letter indicating school represented is: 75 pound — Chris Whelan or Bobby Carr (G); Brian Basore (P); Rin Cline (G); 82 — Steve Evans (G); Andy McGovern (P); Greg Colloff (G); 90 — Todd Reer (G); David Fitzhugh (P); Barry Forshee (C).

119 — Ray Stewart (G); Greg Tingley (P); Darrell Hays (C); 126 — open (G); Tom Elash (C); Ralph Barker (C); 135 — open (G); John Shimwell (P); Mike Forshee (C); 144 — open (G); Tom Speece (P); Norm Mangoff (C).

155 — John Hartline or Joe Wozniak (G); Myron Schanuel (P); Kevin Buckingham (C); 170 — open (G); Mark Kemp (P); Dennis Scorsdale (C); and heavyweight — Open (G); Louis Medley (P); Steve Curless (C).

"The quality of wrestling should be the same this year," speculates Coach Larry Gerli of Coolidge. "The Granite City teams are favored to sweep the event," he added.

Adult admission to all three sessions will be $2.50 and admission to all three sessions for students will be $2. Individual session tickets will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for for students.

Mat district at Roxana, sectional at GC South

Both Granite City high schools, South and North, have been assigned to the Roxana district wrestling tournament Feb. 15-16, and successful matmen from that meet and the districts at Belleville West, Murphysboro and Jacksonville will vie in the GCHS South sectional Feb. 22-23.

The Illinois High School Association announced the assignments this weekend in divulging details of the first-ever Illinois two-class wrestling tournament series.

IHSAA Executive Secretary Harry Fitzhugh forecast that the "new era in Illinois prep wrestling will trigger increased participation at both levels."

Class A has been established for schools with enrollments of 750 or less; Class AA, for schools with 751 or more students, includes the two Granite City high schools.

Single-class team champions include the GCHS Warriors, who tied Reavis High of Oak Lawn for the 1965 state mat title. The Granite City school was designated as South with the opening of new North High this fall.

The last of the 37 single-class champions, Fenton of Bensenville, is coached by Steve Weiss. His comment Friday was that "there's no question in my mind that Illinois is one of the top four states, if not the No. 1 state, in quality of competition and strength of program."

In the past two years, Illinois wrestlers have dominated the summer competition throughout the country.

"The two-class system should do a great deal to improve the overall caliber of wrestlers produced in Illinois high schools, and at the same time give a lot more young men a chance to prove their abilities."

Coolidge wins in mat action

Coolidge Junior High School upped its wrestling record to 3-1 during the weekend, capturing nine of 13 matches to defeat Mascoutah 48-14 in a make-up contest at the local school.

Posting wins for Coolidge (wins indicated by times were): 75 pound — Ron Cline, 3-2; 82 — Greg Colloff, 4-0; 90 — Barry Forshee, won on disqualification; 98 — Greg Hoes 10-4; 105 — Chuck Duckworth, 3-48; 112 — Dwan Page, 3-2; 119 — Darrell Hays, 1-14; 126 — Ralph Barker, 1-11; 135 — Mike Forshee, 5-04; and 144 — Norman Mangoff, 4-0.

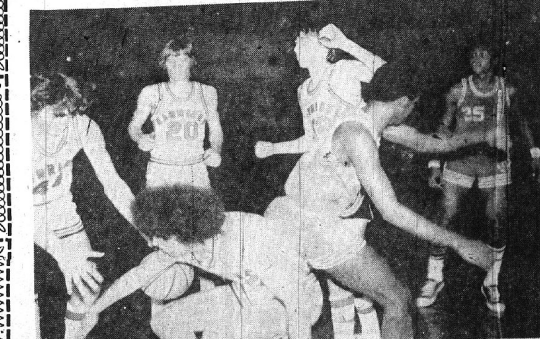

District competition will take place at 16 Class A sites and 28 Class AA locations. Schools entering total 131 in Class A and 228 in AA.

Roxana contenders will be the host team, the Granite Cityans and Alton, Bethalto, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Highland and Wood River.

State final tournaments, bringing eight finalists in Class A and 16 in Class AA to the Assembly Hall at Champaign, is set for March 1-2; the tourneys will be held concurrently.

With 250,000 Canada geese now on the Southern Illinois refuge acres, harvest figures through December indicate the hunting season will run its full course, officials said today.

"The hunting season will end Jan. 20 or when a harvest quota of 24,000 birds has been taken in Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties. At the end of the year, only 12,300 birds have been killed.

County has 400 special deputies

About 400 persons hold commissions as special deputies in Madison County, Sheriff John Maeras said this Monday by the Illinois Liquor Control Commission. The state law by serving as deputies while having a business interest in taverns.

"I have not received any notification from the Illinois Liquor Control Commission that any special deputies of Madison County are in violation of any liquor laws," Maeras told the Press-Record, adding that special deputies do not serve as regular deputies; they are not paid and do not perform county law enforcement work. County delays health club zoning action

A recommendation by the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals to approve a $1 million private health club near Holiday Shores was tabled by the Madison County Board Wednesday to give residents of the area more time to study the proposal and to comment on their opinions concerning it.

A public meeting has been called for 1 p.m. Saturday at St. John's United Church of Christ in Midway, near Alton, to review the plans with the developer.

The 16-acre site of the proposed health club is a mile north of Route 149 on Route 159. Honner Henke, board member from Monro, whose district the development would be constructed, said there has been much controversy among the residents of the area who would like to have some of their questions answered before the county board approves the plan.

In other business, the board approved a resolution lifting its ban on the use of plastic pipe in construction. Plastic pipe has been allowed in most cities in the county. The county board's action allows it to be used for water piping, drainage and vent piping.

Some board members expressed reservations the change may reduce work for some union workers but they were assured that plastic pipe jobs as long to install as metal pipe and studies have shown no jobs would be lost.

The board unanimously reaffirmed their desire for Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, board chairman, to remain as chairman through the November election.

The board voted last month to extend the terms of board members to November, thus consolidating elections. Hagnauer's term as a board member was extended, but board members were not sure if his tenure as chairman also was automatically extended.

The vote was taken to assure that he remain chairman, even if the law extending the terms of office of board members did not provide for the chairman's term also to continue through November.

Hagnauer requested that the legislative committee consider appointment of a chairman to serve if the chairman was absent at a meeting.

Training center plan forwarded to state agency

A program development statement for construction of a $2 million waste water treatment operator training center at SIUE has been filed with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The proposal calls for construction of a classroom-laboratory building which would contain two multipurpose laboratories for standard chemical and biological wastewater tests, two general classrooms, an amphitheater to seat 100, and various support areas.

The existing sewage treatment plant at SIUE, with modifications, would serve as a training center in equipment operation and process control. According to the proposal, the most urgent waste water treatment need in Illinois is for training or upgrading of several thousand water and wastewater treatment plant personnel. This could be the first priority of the proposed new center.

In addition, the center would offer continuing education for experienced plant operators and supervisors.

A three-year instructional program is envisioned in the proposal, with emphasis the first year on entry level and upgrading programs. Topical seminars would also be offered, and a program to assess future state training needs would begin.

Training for more experienced plant operators would be stressed in the second year, with programs for entry level operators also getting a high priority. The third year would emphasize operation and maintenance of the need to develop more highly skilled personnel.

Gov. Dan Walker said Oct. 24 that the state will make $2 million available from the Illinois Anti-Pollution Bond issue for construction of the training center. Additional funds would have to come from the state of federal EPA or some other source to finance the instructional program.

County Ok's wage pacts

New salary contracts with three unions were approved by the Madison County Board in a meeting at Edwardsville Wednesday.

The board approved a two-year agreement with Local 520 of Operating Engineers, Local 50 of Chauffeurs and Helpers, and Local 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, calling for a 5 per cent increase, retroactive to Dec. 1, another 6 per cent on June 1 and a 4 per cent increase Dec. 1. The agreements also call for hospitalization insurance which was not previously provided.

The agreements do not affect elected officials, department administrators, contractual employees, chief deputies of elected officials or department administrators, employees of the supervisory level, educational service, judicial appointed personnel, administrative assistants, supervisory personnel and attorneys from the public defender's and state's attorney's office.

The agreement was criticized by Wayne Bridgewater, board member from Roxana and chairman of the personnel committee, who said the across-the-board raises nullify the county's job classification study.

He said the study tried to offer comparable salaries for the amount of work each job carried, but the new two-year contract will delay progress of the classification efforts until the end of the period.

Despite his objection, Bridgewater joined in the unanimous vote to accept the pay hikes. A formal contract will still be prepared and will be considered by the board at a later date, but the pay raises become effective immediately.

Hagauer supported the new pay schedule, saying, "I don't think we gave them more than we should have." He also said hospitalization coverage for county employees is long overdue.

Roger Elbie, board member from Wood River, presented a resolution calling for the offices of the county clerk, treasurer and recorder of deeds to have payrolls, and other financial business completed through the county's new data processing center.

It was approved unanimously. The three officers were specifically excepted by state law from having to utilize data processing. Officials from those offices would not comment if they intend to defy the order.

Hagauer told the board he felt data processing for all offices is a good idea, but added, "I seriously doubt if we will see these offices in it this year."

The board approved a one-year extension of a contract with Dinzler Equipment Co. of St. Louis to train county employees in the use of new record keeping equipment. Michael Pellegrini, board member from Collinsville, argued that the firm already had one year to train the employees and was unsuccessful. He questioned whether they would be able to complete the training in another year.

Hagauer said he will meet with the company's representative to clarify that all employees are to be trained this year and that the contract will not be renewed again.

Mrs. Stucke dies in St. Louis

Mrs. Irene Stucke, 60, of 4525 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis, a former resident of Granite City, died at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. She had been hospitalized since mid-December.

Mrs. Stucke was born in Venice and attended Madison schools. She had lived in the Quad-Cities her entire life prior to moving to St. Louis 17 years ago.

Mrs. Sallie Robertson, 83, of 273 Jackson St., Madison, died at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She was born in Collinsville, Tenn., moving to Madison a year ago. She was a member of the Springdale Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Robertson is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Allie Williams of Madison, one grandchild and 23 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Tector now is preparing.

The board received a petition from township residents requesting a toll-free telephone number to the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff John Maerks has reportedly told several local officials that he could not obtain a toll-free number to serve the Quad-Cities.

A Press-Record investigation has disclosed that such a number already exists, but the unlisted 345 exchange number has been given only to county officials.

It rings through the switchboard at the County Courthouse at Edwardsville and the officials then are connected to the sheriff's department or any county office in the courthouse. The line can be used only during hours when the courthouse and switchboard are open.

The town board would like to refer the petition to Sheriff Maerks with a letter from the board supporting installation of the toll-free number.

Another petition from Sylvester Bryan, 3604 Ruth Drive, was studied by the board and was referred to the State's Attorney's office. The petition requests added legal protection, stricter enforcement of law and more efficient judicial processes.

Complaints were heard from several township residents that one trash collector in the township has not been collecting trash since the township switched against him for having an open garbage truck.

Whitsell told the residents they should seek other contract trash haulers if the hauler in question was going to discontinue service to them.

Whitsell told the board he has received a revenue sharing check for $13,187.

The board approved the issuance of an anticipation warrant for general assistance purposes for $20,000.

The warrant replaces a 1973 warrant for the same amount which had expired.

The board approved the appointment by Carl Macios, new township assessor, of Mrs. Mary Jane Krausz as a deputy assessor.

Specifications for expanding and remodeling the town hall are nearly complete and will be ready for bidding soon, the auditors were told.

A letter was received from U.S. Congressman Melvin Price in response to a previous letter from Whitsell. The supervisor had asked assistance to help a township resident obtain a small Business Administration loan to repair her flood-damaged home. The township had applied after the deadline. She contended the deadline was not made public knowledge.

Price said he has written the SBA on behalf of the woman.

The board asked for a legal opinion from the township attorney concerning whether the township may remove snow and ice from streets that have been dedicated but have not been accepted into the township road system. Areas involved include Arlington Heights, the Morris Subdivision and Steelcrest.

A letter was presented from International Mill Service, operator of Ferro Processing Co. here, asking that the township pick up slag materials for road purposes at the Granite City facility rather than having it delivered to help alleviate a diesel fuel shortage the company is experiencing.

Tax objection cases have been filed against all township fund levies by all railroads in the township and by P.S.C. Realty Co. The auditors were informed.

early this week began to thaw. Three weeks of accumulation of snow and ice. Twenty-five inches of snow and freezing rain fell in the Quad-Cities area during the latter part of December, followed by more freezing rain and severe icing conditions early this week.

The weather forecast called for continued mild temperatures today with a high in the 50s.

Despite temperature readings in the 40s yesterday morning, wet streets resulting from Tuesday's rain remained glazed and slowed traffic considerably. A similar condition hampered traffic Tuesday morning.

There were six accidents in Granite City yesterday, none of them involving injuries. But on Tuesday, ten accidents, including two fatalities, were reported by 9:15 a.m. Fifteen accidents were reported overnight Tuesday and early Wednesday morning.

News notes

Federal Energy Office regulations placed in effect Tuesday allocate service stations as much gasoline as they received in 1972 and require owners of oil-heated homes to lower their thermostats six degrees.

A joint Illinois House-Senate speed limit from 70 to 55 miles an hour was told Tuesday that this would save 388 lives a year. It would also save $200,000 gallons of gasoline per day in this state.

The St. Louis County Municipal League executive board voted Tuesday to ask the league to support creation of a St. Louis Area Council of Governments including this area of Illinois.

Technical experts said Tuesday an 18-minute gap in a subpoenaed White House recording tape was caused by at least five and possibly nine separate erasures. The Senate Judiciary Committee plans to investigate the matter.

The National Weather Service said Tuesday the first two weeks of January 1974 were the warmest such period in 100 years. Temperatures averaged 15 degrees, 17 below the January average. Previous years were in 1873 and 1912.

Walter Susskind, St. Louis Symphony Orchestra music director and conductor, said Tuesday he will leave after the 1974-75 season in order to have more time for study and travel.

A three-judge panel recommended Monday that former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew be disbarred. It said his admitted income tax evasion was "deceitful and dishonest" and a basic object of the legal profession.

Task force is formed to fight fuel cost abuses

An intergovernmental task force to monitor and investigate abuses by fuel distributors was formed Wednesday through a directive by Gov. Dan Walker.

In his eight-point energy message in the State of the State address last week Gov. Walker had called for the "special task force" to prevent price gouging, hoarding, discrimination and unfair trade practices by gas stations and other fuel distributors.

The task force, which will include state troopers, weights and measures inspectors from the Department of Agriculture and deputy state fire marshals, will be under the direction of Lt. Gerald J. Schilling and Cpl. Harold E. Divley of the State Police in Springfield.

The unit will work closely with the Internal Revenue Service, the City of Chicago and the Attorney General's office which also have persons working on fuel matters. Liaison with the city, the IRS and the Attorney General's office has been established.

As part of the effort, the state will open two fair gasoline price telephone lines, at 217-325-5640 in Springfield, and 312-296-1916 in Des Plaines.

Consumers victimized by any unscrupulous gas distributors are being asked to report price gouging, unfair trade practices, hoarding or discrimination to any personnel manning these telephone lines.

Task force inspectors will then be notified through the State Police communications network to verify the complaint and turn the information over to either the IRS, the Attorney General's office or the local state's attorney, depending on the nature of the violation.

Rendleman favors two SIU boards

SIU President John S. Rendleman told newsmen Monday evening he is inclined to support formation of a separate board, as a citizen, but that he will be guided in his official duties by the directives of the SIU board, which currently sets policies for both the SIUE and SIUC campuses.

The basis for his feeling is that there are such wide differences between the two regions served and the types of universities that have developed; the diversity is logical but makes it more difficult for a single board to deal with, Dr. Rendleman said.

He voiced hope that sufficient funds will be found to proceed with a sixth annual Mississippi River Festival summer concert season at SIUE.

Gov. Walker is a key individual in SIF planning and has consistently shown awareness of SIUE and SIUC needs and accomplishments, Dr. Rendleman said.

Escapes chase after mishap

A hit and run accident at Madison Avenue and 21st Street resulted in a chase and several other accidents, according to Gerald Wiekham, 2213 Grand Ave., who reported the incident to authorities Wednesday.

Wiekham said another car struck his and then left the scene. He said he chased the other car from Granite City to the Save-Mart parking lot on Collinsville Road where the other motorist struck his car several times in trying to escape.

The chase continued on Collinsville Road to Black Lane where the hit and run driver turned right from the center lane, striking Wiekham's car again, he reported. The car then went into Collinsville.

Wiekham accused a Granite City man but no arrests have been made.

Mary Harris, 50, of 2213 Grand Ave., a passenger in Wiekham's car, suffered minor injuries, Wiekham reported.

Moisture hampers use of North gym

A moisture problem that has intensified in recent weeks has closed parts of the new North High School's gymnasium to physical education classes.

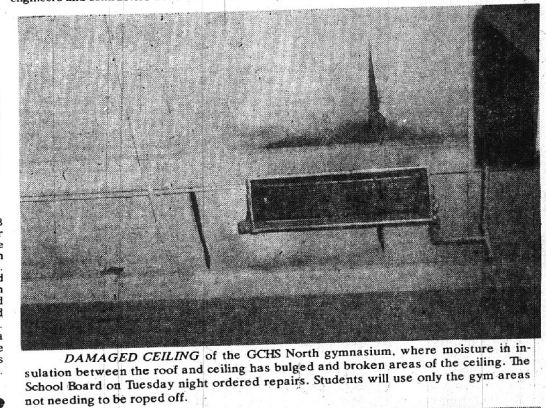

Remedial steps were authorized by the Granite City School Board Tuesday night.

With ceiling insulation wet and leaking into buckets and cans on the gymnasium floor, the board asked for a consulting firm to devise a plan and then for repairs to be carried out. Studies so far by architectural engineers and contractors have failed to pinpoint the problem, originally assumed to be leaks involving the roof or roof flashings. Condensation in another theory.

The gym was opened in September and used through December.

Supt. B. J. Davis said the school district is not to blame for the problem and that whatever costs are encountered will be billed to whoever is determined responsible.

DAMAGED CEILING of the GCIS North gymnasium, where moisture in insulation between the roof and ceiling has bulged and broken areas of the ceiling. The School Board on Tuesday night ordered repairs. Students will use only the gym areas not needing to be roped off.

NOT PRAYING FOR RAIN but kneeling on the North High School hardwood gymnasium floor is Donald Deterding, athletics coordinator and physical education director at North. He is shown Wednesday arranging buckets and metal cans to catch dripping water that could damage the floor.

Harmony till March primary but state faces clashes on revenue

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

A late winter interlude of peace and harmony followed by a return to political warfare in the spring.

That's the outlook for Illinois state government as it moves into the second year of divided responsibility, a Democratic governor, and a legislature dominated, if by a narrow margin, by the Republicans.

However, beneath the Statehouse Dome there is a far different climate, than a year ago.

The tenseness and fierce antagonism that marked Gov. Daniel Walker's entrance onto the Springfield stage last January have faded. They have been replaced by a relaxed feeling of developing good will.

Even the year-long feud between the governor and the Republican legislative leadership that marked 1973 has been shelved, at least for a while.

There are two basic factors that account for the new spirit of cooperation and good will that suddenly fills the Capitol.

Walker has clearly changed his earlier stance as the self-proclaimed reformer, fighting single-handedly against all the evil forces in state government. It's no longer a simple case of the "good guy" versus the "bad guys."

Illinois legislators, many of whom face serious primary opposition, are deeply aware of grassroots disgust with protracted political wrangling.

The voters have been stunned by the sudden gasoline shortage, and the winter switch to daylight saving. They want some quick and specific action at all levels to deal with the energy crisis.

As is so often the case in politics, two opposing forces realize they can mutually gain through cooperation. This year, the energy crisis makes compromise relatively easy.

In recent weeks there have been increasing signs that Walker has become especially sensitive to continuous criticism that he failed to accomplish anything of importance during his first year as governor.

The energy crisis offers him a splendid opportunity to achieve passage of a long list of bills on a popular issue that can form a solid basis for a year he can "point with pride" to and more from now.

Republicans in the legislature may offer their own version of some energy bills, but overall the issue is too strong for them to risk any criticism that they are delaying action on measures designed to make life for Illinoisans less trying in a difficult time.

This is especially so when many a Republican and Democratic legislative incumbent will be facing a test at the polls in the March 19 primary.

But after that primary, watch out!

Then comes the big crunch of the annual budget, a big battle last year and one in which Walker was definitely the loser. At the Statehouse, his current lack of tax relief is regarded as unrealistic.

It is more likely that a developing recession, with higher unemployment, will mean soaring relief costs as well as a cut in state revenue, so heavily dependent on sales tax and income tax revenue.

The budgetary battle is certain to be long and bitter. Cooperation on meeting the energy crisis will help peace and harmony in the Statehouse for the rest of winter, but the budgetary spring winds of March will blow in another political storm.

Mayors hear drainage plan

The first step in planning the permanent Hillside Drainage program and further drainage of the American Bottoms was initiated by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) as area mayors met Monday night in the Commission office to review drainage data and give their ideas on needed improvements. Next Monday, county and township officials will meet with the planners. On Thursday, Jan. 24, representatives of special taxing districts, businesses and residential area representatives will be invited to confer with the planners.

The area officials and representatives are being invited to give their ideas on the drainage planning which now is beginning, a SIMAPC official said.

About one and a half years have been devoted by SIMAPC to gathering information on drainage patterns in preparation for the study. It will take about one year to complete and will give alternate methods of drainage, with cost estimates, for study by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and other bodies involved with drainage, the Press-Record was told.

The Corp of Engineers is charged with implementing hillside drainage for this area.

but has not yet been extensively funded for the program. SIMAPC is cooperating with the Corps in preparation of plans for the work.

The planning official said that after the initial meetings, an American Bottoms and Hillside Drainage Area Basin Advisory Committee of officials and representatives will be established to advise at crucial points in the planning process. The group may not be called to meet again for several months, he added.

ASF engineering posts are filled

Robert B. Love has been appointed assistant vice president-product engineering and Robert P. Radwilk has been named chief engineer for American Steel Foundries, a Chicago-based operating unit of AMSTED Industries. Granite City is among the ASF plant locations.

Both appointments were announced Tuesday by Carl O. Sundberg, ASF president.

Love joined ASF in 1962 and held a variety of positions in the product engineering department. In 1969, he became product design manager for the company's line of railroad freight cars.

He was named manager-product engineering in 1972 and oversees all ASF's product engineering activities including design, development and testing. In addition, he will direct all engineering graduate of the University of Minnesota.

A 17-year veteran with ASF, Radwilk will be responsible for product engineering on railroad freight cars, brake beams and couplers. In addition, he will direct all engineering clerical activities at the company's Chicago general office.

He has a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Chicago Technical College and has taken graduate engineering courses at St. Louis U. and the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Since 1967, he has been manager of ASF's product engineering department.

ASF is a major manufacturer of steel castings and steel springs. Primary markets served include the railroad, construction, mining and trucking industries.

Alternatives to jailing young people discussed

Several members of the staff and faculty of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are participating this week in the third national Symposium on Alternatives to the Incarceration of Youth, at Hot Springs, Ark.

The SIUE Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center is one of the sponsoring agencies of the conference.

James A. Reidelberger, conference coordinator, and James H. Stein, Thomas R. Hughes and Robert S. Gillard are representing the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center.

Other groups helping sponsor the symposium include several state agencies of Arkansas, including the Department of Planning, the Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement, the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, and the Juvenile Services Division.

Principal symposium topics include federal legislation which is being considered, future directions from the U.S.

Office of Youth Development, children's rights, behavior modification in probation and the success of alternatives to incarceration.

Other key topics include drug abuse treatment as an alternative, probation, corporate crime, adult offenders working with delinquent youth, pre-trial diversion, juvenile court, community school, liaison program, and reality therapy.

Speakers include Jerome Miller, director of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services; Alice Popkin, special counsel to the U.S. Senate Sub-Committee on Juvenile Delinquency; James A. Hefl, commissioner of the U.S. Office of Youth Development; Robert H. Dreher, director of the SIUE School of Law; and John Marr of the psychology department of the University of Arkansas.

Gillard, who is the director of the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center at SIUE, will be the moderator of a conference panel on pre-trial diversion. Reidelberger is moderator of a session on juvenile court. Stein will moderate a workshop session on alternative sentencing.

Others from this area participating include Essie Robinson, director of Project Alton, a youth service bureau at Alton, who will moderate a panel discussion on adult offenders working with delinquent youth; David Kohfeld, of the SIUE department of psychology, who will moderate a panel of the keynote speakers; and Robert Lamp, also of the SIUE psychology department, moderator of a panel discussing the success of alternatives to the incarceration of youth.

The SIUE program of alternative sentencing and service is being funded by a grant from the U.S. Office of Education, providing consulting and training services in the Midwest states.

The program is part of a nationwide educational effort to improve youth development, according to James A. Jacobson, acting director of the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center.

Price to lead review of nuclear role in meeting need for energy

Congressman Melvin Price, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, has announced the scheduling of public hearings for Feb. 5-6 on the "Development, Growth and State of the Nuclear Industry."

The hearings are being held pursuant to Section 202 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954.

Section 202 of the 1954 act originally required that these hearings be held every session of the Congress. In 1964, the act was amended to make such hearings permissive rather than mandatory.

At the same time, the committee became responsible for authorization of the entire AEC budget and thus the need for "202" hearings was lessened.

The last "202" hearings were held in August and September 1965.

This year's "202" hearings will center primarily on developments in the energy industry in general and the nuclear power industry in particular.

Relative to the nuclear energy portion of the hearings, it is the intent to encompass industrial operations in the various steps of the fuel cycle about which there are concerns or significant developments—from the mining of ore to the ultimate disposal of wastes.

It is expected that the discussions on the uranium enrichment and waste management matters will be limited, since the committee recently held extensive hearings on these subjects. The committee intends to ask the AEC to provide an overall statement representing its viewpoint on the state of the nuclear power industry.

The AEC statement is also expected to include data on all significant energy sources, in line with the broader authority granted to the Commission in 1971 and 1972 for performance of research and development in all energy fields.

However, the major portion of the hearings will be devoted to witnesses from the nuclear industry.

In announcing the "202" hearings, Cong. Price said: "Major developments have occurred since the Committee last held '202' hearings in 1965. Since then, the AEC has been given broader responsibilities in the energy field.

"Nuclear power is now being counted on to provide a major share of the energy needs of this country in the years ahead.

"I believe it is time for the committee to examine the state of the nuclear industry, and to obtain a progress report on what has been achieved in introducing this badly needed new energy source into our economy at a time when our supplies of oil and coal—particularly oil—are diminishing at an increasing rate.

"The '202' hearings have served effectively in the past in providing such a perspective. I strongly urge the appropriate representative of the nuclear energy industry to come forward and candidly discuss their accomplishments, their problems and their future plans."

Those interested in being heard are to contact the Joint Committee staff as soon as possible in order that their appearance can be given consideration and the schedule for the hearings developed.

The committee will assign for oral presentation those statements which it considers appropriate for further elaboration.

While it probably will not be possible to hear all interested individuals requesting testimony, all statements submitted will be considered for inclusion in the record of the hearings," Price said.

The "202" public hearings are to be held in the Joint Committee's public hearing room, 507, United States Capitol, Washington, D. C.

Hofferkamp state election director

John S. Hofferkamp, Springfield, has been appointed director of elections for the State Board of Elections.

Michael E. Layelle, chairman of the new state board, said Saturday.

Hofferkamp will assist the four-member board in duties previously performed by the Office of the Secretary of State and the former State Electoral Board.

Hofferkamp, who most recently served as assistant administrator of the Index, Division in the Office of the Secretary of State, was chosen by the board because of his 14 years experience in the field of elections, Layelle said.

The "election mechanics" of the state, until creation of the new board, were performed by the Index Division. The secretary of state was secretary of the former board.

Hofferkamp served as an election adviser in this division during the administration of five secretaries of state. His state service began under Charles F. Carpenter and continued under William H. Chamberlain, Paul Powell, John W. Lewis and Michael J. Howlett.

In addition to his previous election duties for the secretary of state, Hofferkamp was appointed in 1970 to administer the Illinois Governmental Ethics Act.

Since 1972 he has been chief liaison officer between Washington, D. C., and the Office of the Secretary of State in filing reports conforming with the Federal Campaign Expense Act.

Delaying airport would harm region — Saunders

Arven H. Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, which has applied for federal approval to develop the new St. Louis Intercontinental Airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., said Friday that any delay in developing a major new airport will hurt the St. Louis metropolitan area.

"There is no way that the kind of airport St. Louis needs for the future can be planned and built efficiently in less than eight to ten years," Saunders said.

"Aviation trends and forecasts—even the most conservative—show that by the mid-1980s the area's needs will far exceed the capacity of Lambert."

"Responsible government officials and private aviation consultants employed by organizations with widely varying objectives agree that between 1985 and 1990, St. Louis will need an airport with the capacity of Chicago's O'Hare Field. O'Hare is more than four times the size of Lambert."

"It has been shown conclusively that Lambert cannot handle such loads. Lambert is packed into a 2,000-acre site that cannot be enlarged, and is surrounded by some of the area's most congested highways and roads."

"An airport's capacity is determined by its ability to handle flights and passengers on the kind of scheduling that fits with other air centers. This means that there will be innumerable hours of peak use, requiring runways, terminal facilities, and access systems geared to those hours."

Saunders pointed out that "those who say the present fuel crisis will kill for all time the growth of aviation are neither realistic nor practical."

"While many airlines at the moment are having serious problems, one of the nation's largest systems, Delta, already is optimistic about 1974."

"Certainly, energy conservation will—and should—influence strongly all future transportation planning."

"Responsible planners already see a larger role for air travel in an energy-efficient transportation system."

"Further, many economists are predicting a period of great growth in the late 1970s and into the 1980s. They feel that air travel will surge."

"If they are correct, Lambert might well be outgrown even before a new airport can be developed," Saunders said.

"Clearly, if St. Louis does not have an airport that can handle the traffic, areas that do have the necessary airport capacity will get the benefits and the St. Louis economy will lag even further."

"Indeed, an article in the January issue of St. Louis Commerce magazine, published by the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association," on "Problems and Potentials of the St. Louis Region," gives priority to development and modernization of transportation facilities."

"The St. Louis area is singularly fortunate to have a site like the Columbia-Waterloo localities to meet such a vital regional need. Metropolitan areas all over the world would give almost anything for such a fine airport site so conveniently located."

"Further, development of an airport at Columbia-Waterloo will open the door to a strong new future for Lambert. Experience in Houston, Kansas City and now Dallas is indicative of future demands for two airport systems in metropolitan areas," Saunders concluded.

Franchise sales require disclosure statements

A new Franchise Disclosure Act effective Jan. 1 requires all franchisors and subfranchisors to file complete disclosure statements with the secretary of state's office for all franchises sold for $100 or more in Illinois.

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said the act, approved by the General Assembly and signed into law by the governor on Sept. 21, is being administered by his securities division.

Howlett said enforcement provisions are under the jurisdiction of the attorney general.

"The need to regulate franchise offerings became apparent when numerous Illinois citizens reported substantial losses due to the lack of full and complete information regarding franchises offered for sale," said Howlett.

He explained that the act requires franchisors to make a full written disclosure to prospective franchisees of all material terms of the franchise arrangement.

The act also offers protection by providing a better understanding of the business and legal relationships between franchisor and franchisee.

Howlett said the act does not apply to any franchised business operated on the premises of the franchisor or subfranchisor when the business is incidental to the business conducted by the franchisor or subfranchisor, including leased departments and concessions.

The act does not apply to "securities" as defined or construed under the Securities Act of 1933 or the Illinois Securities Law of 1953.

Howlett said franchise disclosure application forms and copies of the act are available at the securities division in both Springfield and Chicago offices.

Nurses Alumnae meets in Venice

St. Elizabeth Hospital Nurses Alumnae held an abbreviated meeting Tuesday evening, due to poor weather conditions, at the Venice Recreation Center.

Mrs. Martha Bischoff, vice-president, was in charge and most of the time was spent socially.

Mrs. Bertha Pace, Mrs. Ann Clarich and Mrs. Ruth Novacek.

A guest speaker will discuss the Holy Land at the Feb. 19 meeting. Mrs. Bischoff announced.

Circle donates to Community Closet

A contribution was made to the Community Closet, formerly known as the Nearby New Clothing Center, by members of Sarah Circle who met Tuesday afternoon in the parlors at the United Presbyterian Church in Granite City.

The hostesses, Mrs. Kathryn Smith and Mrs. Anna George, served a 1 o'clock dessert luncheon to 15 members and a guest, Mrs. Illa Maxton.

Mrs. Smith gave the lesson taken from "Life and Times of All the Women of the Bible" by Lockyer.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin Service was led by Mrs. Anna Mae Wetton.

Mrs. Louise Orr, circle chairman, was in charge of the business session.

Mrs. Cory hosts to Bethany Class

Mrs. Pauline Cory, 1923 Harris St., Madison, entertained the Bethany Class of the Madison First Baptist Church at her home Monday evening.

Mrs. Vesta Williams, teacher, gave the opening prayer and the class aim and motto were repeated in unison.

The devotional topic, "Open Thought," was presented by Mrs. Bernice Whitten.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Cory, who serves as class outreach leader, with preliminary plans being made for the annual mother-daughter banquet in May.

A dessert course was served by the hostess to those named and to Mesdames Gertie Ashford, Nora Birtley, Mary Link, Hilda Jackson and Ethel Stone.

1,000 phones added in '73

Telephone growth in the Quad-Cities of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach continued at a moderate but steady rate again in 1973. Currently, there are 39,250 telephones in this community, an increase of about 1,000 since 1972. Norman Gessley, Southwestern Bell vice-president and general manager, told the Press-Record today.

"At this time, Southwestern Bell is handling about 200,000 local and long distance calls in the Granite City area on the average business day. This is about 21,000 calls a day more than we experienced in 1972," Gessley said.

"Looking ahead, we do not expect 1974 to be a year of major telephone growth in this area, but we do expect gains to continue at about the same level as last year.

"Continuing development of $1.5 million shopping-center facilities on Nameoki Road is about one-third completed at this time, and that is certainly an encouraging sign for the local economy and growth picture," he commented.

"Community development of this type means that Southwestern Bell's biggest job in Granite City will be keeping pace with our customers' needs.

"We must spend considerable construction dollars today in order to meet the service requirements of tomorrow.

"For example, we spent $80,000 for local service improvement and expansion programs in Granite City in 1973, including $34,000 for cable to provide service for 61 trailer units at West 22nd and Leyden, the U. S. Army Granite City command and the new apartment complex on Maryville Road.

"If current economic factors remain steady, we plan to spend as much as $200,000 on similar projects in the Granite City area in 1974.

"About $552,000 of this money would be spent for central office equipment and $16,000 for outside plant facilities, including the placement of additional underground telephone cable," Gessley related.

"Like you in the Granite City community, we at Southwestern Bell also had to face the problem of increased inflation last year. Our growth in 1973 required large expenditures for construction and expansion.

"Naturally, projects of this kind require us to raise large amounts of capital—money which cannot be economically attracted by a company with insufficient earnings.

"We have been permitted to reprice our services in recent years. But the increased revenues have been offset by the effect of continued inflation, which in 1973 alone raised our cost of doing business by approximately 7.4 per cent.

"It is clear that, over a period of time, this kind of economic imbalance could limit our ability to maintain the low-cost service we have provided in the past," he concluded.

EPA gives notice to salvage firm

D & B Auto Salvage, Route 203 and Bend Road, has been notified by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency office in Collinsville that alleged open burning of automobiles by D & B may constitute a violation of state regulations.

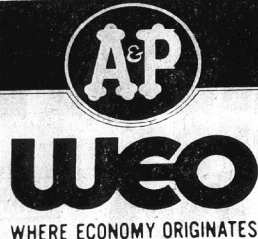

The open burning of automobiles was alleged after an investigation of D & B by an EPA field inspector, the notice said. D & B Auto is owned by Mrs. Pauline Sutton, Box 228, Madison.

The Collinsville agency is considering presentation of the results of the investigation to the Pollution Control Board in order to enforce the provisions of the EPA. Mrs. Sutton was notified.

The Nameoki Township Board also has been notified of the EPA inspection results.

BOOKS Has sin lost its meaning?

WHATEVER BECAME OF SIN? by Dr. Karl Menninger.
Hawthorn Books; 242
pages; $7.95.

By RICK ORLOV

Throughout his career, Dr. Karl Menninger has been concerned mainly with helping his patients adjust and live with the various guilts acquired during their lives. But, in what seems like a sudden departure, the man often described as the father of American psychiatry seems to have changed his concern from mental health to moral health.

At 80 years of age, Menninger, who calls himself Dr. Karl, finds himself wondering what has happened to the concept of sin in modern life.

Most people seem concerned only with "how much can I get away with without getting caught," he said in a recent interview during a tour for his new book.

Menninger admits the book will probably be viewed as a departure from his previous works, which focused on his concerns as a psychiatrist and, more recently, on aspects of criminal justice. However, he said, the concepts he discusses in his book are part of his belief that people have to take more responsibility for their actions. Most people no longer seem concerned about committing sins, he said, adding he believes most no longer even think of the concept of sin.

"When was the last time you really used the word sin to describe something?" he asked. "At least a month, I'll bet."

"The big word today is expediency. People don't care if it's right, but it's expedient."

"Can you get anything out of it?"

"No one uses the word sin anymore," Menninger added he does not want to see a return to some of the emotional and mental damage caused persons because of overbearing concepts of sin which leave a legacy of guilt.

Rather, he said, a new concept of morality is needed where sins are those acts which may hurt someone else.

"So much time and money is spent today on our own little morality plays," he said. "Jails are modern-day morality plays."

"Parents can drive their children past one of these and tell them, 'See, if you're not good, that's where you'll go.' They try to scare them into behaving good."

The problem with today's world, as he sees it, is a "great riddle" as posed by Socrates.

How is it, Menninger writes, that men know what is good but do what is bad?

"There really is no answer," he said, "and looking for causes is a high school debate."

Persons in positions of speaking to the public have to show more concern for morality, he said, emphasizing the roles psychiatrists should play in this area.

"We all have the responsibility," he said. "When something comes up, like the charges against (President) Nixon and (former vice president) Agnew, we all have to take the responsibility."

"We were the ones who elected them."

HURT IN ACCIDENT
Austin Riggs, 30, of Collinsville, was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital after his auto left the roadway and struck several small trees on Route 162 about one-half mile west of Mockingbird Lane at 7:05 p.m. Monday.

Children priceless —and also expensive

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser—Home Economics

It may seem peculiar to think of your child as an expenditure, but the fact remains that children do represent a rather substantial family financial investment.

However, the returns on this investment are not measured in dollars and cents. In exchange, a child gives pride, love and a "bridging of the generation gap" to his parents.

The family financial investment begins almost as the child's life begins. The maternity expenses may run $1,500 or more if the costs for the hospital room, delivery room and obstetrician are added together with the costs of mother's maternity wardrobe and baby's layette.

If a nurse or household help is employed when the baby comes, the expense figure continues to climb. However, a second, third or fourth child is less expensive than Number One because the family already has much of the equipment.

After the birth, the costs of raising the child to adulthood begin.

Each year tends to be progressively more expensive. Children need food, clothing, shelter, medical care and transportation. In addition, they usually participate in development activities, such as music or dancing lessons.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Labor Statistics have developed cost estimates for each year of a child's first 18 years of life and for the entire 18-year period.

On the average, during the first 18 years of life, the cost per child ranges from 14 to 17 per cent of the family's income. Of course, the figure varies greatly according to where the family lives—city or rural area, East Coast or Midwest, and so forth.

Food and clothing expenditures increase most rapidly as a child grows. Other categories of expenditures, such as housing and transportation, are distributed equally among family members. Therefore, as the family size increases, the cost per child decreases.

Another aspect of the cost of raising children deals with the employment the mother gives up while she stays home to care for the children.

Even if she does return to work before the children are in school, the costs for a sitter must be taken out of her salary.

If the mother works, usually she must pay someone at least $1.60 to $2 an hour to clean the house and care for her children.

Now tax deductions that are allowed for child care costs of employed parents lighten this burden somewhat.

In addition, the working mother must pay 5.2 per cent of the housekeeper's wages as her share in building up the employee's social security fund. On the other hand, if the mother takes the children to a child care center, her housework still needs to be done.

Looking at the actual costs, children are expensive. However, because of parental pride, most parents would not give up their children "for all the money in the world."

Lake PTA group to bowl Monday

Lake School Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the 300 Room of Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl. Mrs. Dorothy Phelps, president, announced today.

A business session will be followed with a short film on bowling and those wishing to bowl will be invited by the management to join in a game.

Mrs. Phelps said, "All parents of Lake pupils are being encouraged to take part in the special evening of entertainment, she added."

Plans for the bowling party were made at a meeting of the PTA executive board held Monday night at the school.

Also planned was a "Pounders' Day" program, to be held Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at Lake School. Mrs. Brenda Withers was appointed general chairman for the event.

It was announced that students of Mrs. Phyllis Wiggins will present a program at the February meeting.

POM POU SQUAD LEADER, Miss Kathy Whelan, center, a January graduate at Granite City High School North, receives an inscribed charm bracelet from her successor, Miss Toni Simmers, right, and Miss Dawn Wallace, assistant leader. The occasion was the first annual recognition banquet for the pom pon squad, the first unit of its kind to be organized in the area.

North pom pon squad is feted

The area's first all-new pom pon squad, consisting of students from Granite City High School North, celebrated its first season of participation in girdiron activities and basketball entertainment by holding a mid-winter banquet at Charlie's Restaurant.

The occasion was highlighted by the presentation of an inscribed pom pon charm bracelet to the graduating squad leader, Miss Kathy Whelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whelan, 2176 Harrison Ave.

Miss Whelan, a January graduate at Granite High North, was commended for her "inspiring leadership of the new group" and afforded recognition by Robert D. Todoroff, band director for her accomplishments in the high school's new endeavor as part of the band program.

Pom pon squad members and their parents attended the banquet during which achievements of the group and extensive plans for future activities were recounted by Todoroff.

Miss Toni Simmers was introduced as the new squad leader, succeeding Miss Whelan. The assistant leader will be Miss Dawn Wallace.

Non-smokers seek rights

U. S. Congressman C. W. Bill Young of Florida and Debbie Reynolds, stage and screen actress are serving as honorary co-chairmen for National Education Week on Smoking, which is being observed this week based on the theme—"Non-Smokers Have Rights Too!"

Conforming to the national observance, Illinois Governor Daniel Walker has proclaimed January—"Smoking Education Month in Illinois."

Sponsor of the week is the National Intergovernmental Council on Smoking and Health, consisting of 33 national health, education and youth organizations concerned with the problem of cigarette smoking and its effect on human health, authorities at St. Elizabeth Hospital said this week.

Rep. Young has been a leading proponent in Congress of non-smokers rights. He introduced the "Non-Smokers' Relief Act" that would require separate seating areas on interstate planes, trains and buses so that passengers who shun cigarettes could ride in smoke-free comfort.

Reynolds, star of the Broadway revival of the musical, "Irene," observed that "more and more entertainers realize they can give a better performance in a room that is not smoke-screened and are speaking out and requesting audiences not to smoke. The comfort level goes up and the cough level goes down," she noted.

"Greater consideration is the keynote," Mrs. Reynolds added. "Smokers can still indulge their habit in private. What we are trying to do is remind them that non-smokers have rights too and most important is their right to breathe clean air."

Classrooms, housing being built at SIUE

By DR. JOHN S. RENDELMAN

President

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

Two major steps taken in 1973 bode well for future growth and advancement of the university. Construction is under way on two classroom buildings and on an expansion of our on-campus student housing.

When the classroom buildings are completed in 1975, the tight squeeze on teaching and research space which has affected the campus for several years should be eased. The classroom buildings are budgeted at $13.4 million.

Expansion of the Tower Lake student housing complex will provide space for 1,000 single students.

Some units in the $5.9 million project are expected to be ready for occupancy as early as September. Since the opening of Tower Lake housing in 1970, there has been a long waiting list of students seeking to live on campus.

Consolidation and strict economy will be two key words for SIUE during 1974.

The halcyon days of the sixties with annual dramatic enrollment increases are over. The development of the new junior college system, the end of the military draft and the progress SIUE has made toward emphasis on junior and graduate work—as specified in the state's master plan for higher education—have led to enrollment shifts, and some declines.

These declines have been translated into budgetary reductions by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The entire system of public higher education in the state faces the probability of substantial change.

At its December meeting, the Board of Higher Education indicated the master plan for Illinois will be revised again, with new guidelines expected to be completed some time in 1975.

Consolidation and economy are not negative points in our outlook at SIUE for 1974.

We believe the university can continue to provide valuable service to the metropolitan area, despite the budget pinch. The reappraisals caused by budget cutbacks—and the changes this review will bring about—should be made anyhow—in any well-managed institution.

We should, and we will, continually review to see which academic programs and services need to be strengthened, which new programs should be added, and which existing programs are no longer useful and should be discontinued.

There will inevitably be some personnel reductions, but we hope they will be minimal.

Our goal during this consolidation period is the same as it has been since the university was established—to render the greatest possible educational benefit to the greatest number of people in our area within the resources that are available to the institution.

Instruction in two new masters degree programs will begin in 1974.

The master of science degree in urban studies is designed to assist in meeting the needs of state and area municipalities in planning and implementing solutions to complex urban problems. Enrollment the first year will be limited to approximately 15.

The program is interdisciplinary and involves the Schools of Business, Education, Science and Technology and Social Science.

The master of science in mass communications will be problem-oriented rather than media-oriented and will emphasize practical experience.

SIUE now offers 48 degree programs at the masters level. The BHE has recommended $28,025,000 in operating funds for SIUE in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. This is only one step in a lengthy budget decision process and it will be several months before the university can really know how much readjustment will be necessary.

However, if the figure recommended by the BHE is ultimately approved by the governor and the legislature, we will need to reallocate approximately $800,000 internally to implement the BHE

Set hearings on air plans

Public hearings were to be held today in Springfield on plans to bring two local industries into compliance with federal air control regulations.

The companies whose plans were to be considered today by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency are Reilly Tar & Chemical Co., 19th Street and Edwardsville Road, and Union Electric Co., for the Venice power station.

VANDALIZE LAUNDRY

Vandals broke three washing machines and a detergent vending machine at the Helpee Selfee Laundry, 1601 Pontoon Road, this week. The back room also was entered. Owners said they did not believe anything was taken.

remodeling of the former Broadway Hotel in East St. Louis, home of the SIUE Center there, for which $125,000 is allocated. If the funds are appropriated, we can make basic improvements and provide additional space for programs at the center.

Other capital improvement items proposed include $1.4 million for furnishing and equipping the two classroom buildings under construction, $1.3 million for required expansion of the heating and refrigeration plant, and $100,000 for remodeling of Alton facilities for the School of Dental Medicine.

Top priority has been given to proposals.

While the BHE recommendation is an increase of $702,000 in actual dollars, the board has also recommended specific sums for salary increases, price increases in non-personnel costs and new academic programs, totaling $1,763,000. The difference will have to come from internal reallocations.

For capital improvements at SIUE in the next fiscal year, the BHE has recommended $3,185,000.

Top priority has been given to proposals.

MRF friends plan concert

The Student Friends of the Mississippi River Festival will sponsor a benefit concert in the Kendall ballroom at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Feb. 3.

The Student Friends is an outgrowth of the student members of the board of directors of the Festival who have challenged the board members to match by proportionate income the monies generated by students in helping to clear the deficit incurred in the 1973 season.

The 1973 season of the MRF finished with a $64,000 deficit. Approximately $2,000 currently has been generated by the Student Friends.

This will be the first of a series of concerts sponsored by the Student Friends. The concert is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon Feb. 3. Admission will be $1.50. Featured will be three outstanding groups of musicians. "P.F. Flyer," formerly known as "Canyon," previously as "Z," will lend a big band flavor. P.F. Flyer has undergone some major changes in the group.

"Pavlov's Dog" is one of the few regional groups that is trying to establish its own personal style by writing and playing original material.

"Mootwab," formerly "Globe Theatre," entertained an SIUE audience at a recent informal concert. Mootwab is establishing its musical philosophy in the blues origins of the St. Louis area.

ACCIDENT ON RODGER
Richard Dawdy, 31, of 2425 Sunbury Ave., was injured when his car and the auto of John Steiner, Edwardsville, collided in the 2300 block of Rodger Avenue at 11:45 a.m. Friday. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for an injury to his left shoulder and was released.

COINS ARE STOLEN

Robert Kowles, St. Louis, reported this week that two rare coins were stolen from him at the coin show in Granite City Park District's Namooki Recreation Center, Pontoon Road and Amos Avenue. Taken were an 1882 uncirculated half-dollar worth $50 and a 1916D dime worth $80.

Inflation, energy cloud '74 outlook
By ROBERT E. BACKS
President,
State Loan and Savings
Association
The year 1973 was a year of progress for the savings and loan industry as a whole, and for the State Loan and Savings Association.

The year started out at a rapid pace and continued that way until July, when a new policy of monetary stringency was adopted. This policy produced an immediate and general rise in interest rates, a decline in savings deposits, and another tight money situation for the mortgage market.

It is this policy that made the year 1973 a year of progress instead of a year of great progress for the savings and loan industry.
The prospects for 1974 are somewhat cloudy at this time.
Much depends on what progress the nation is able to make in its fight against inflation, the energy crisis, and other problems facing us.

A forecast is always subject to revision and error, this year more so than ever.
Present conditions indicate that there will be a decline in economic growth, unemployment will rise and inflation will remain at the near record levels of 1973.
These are the results of the energy shortage, which in turn causes price increases that will add to the costs of nearly every product produced.

It is anticipated that consumers will decrease their spending on large items and increase their ratio of savings to income. This should make more money available to finance housing.

New housing starts are expected to fall about 20 per cent from the 1973 level. The major slowdown should occur in the first half of 1974, with gradual improvement in the second half.

A high rate of price inflation in the building industry will continue to restrict new housing production and used home sales.
The gasoline shortage is also expected to restrict the sales of both new and used homes.

The prospects for 1974 are somewhat cloudy. Economic forecasts are somewhat pessimistic, as are the attitudes of the public.
Depending on what is done about this, the coming crisis facing us, the actual outcome could be much brighter than the picture being painted for us now.

Marked valuables aid in their recovery if stolen

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

"Operation Identification," a program to discourage theft and help recover stolen property, is one of several community service programs being offered the public by the Granite City Police Department.

Service clubs, school groups and other local organizations interested in learning more about the ID program and how participation can improve the chance of retrieving items stolen in burglaries are invited to contact Officer Roy Koberna, at 877-6111, or visit GC police headquarters in the City Hall building.

Officer Koberna will attend meetings by appointment to fully explain the ID program. He illustrates his talk with a new film and also demonstrates, newly acquired locking devices for the home. Operation ID has a direct deterrent to theft because stolen items bearing etched identification numbers are more difficult to sell, easily recoverable and can be linked with specific burglaries, thereby making prosecution more likely, Koberna explained.

A special engraving pen, available on loan from the police department, is used to inscribe a driver's license number, followed with an abbreviation of Illinois (ILL), on all valuables.

The police officer said the driver's license number is considered best because police everywhere can use it to trace owners almost instantly. However, he noted, a social security number, street address or auto license number can be similarly used.

Property owners also are urged to photograph valuables that one chooses not to engrave, such as heirlooms, antiques and coin collections.

All valuables, both photographed and marked should be itemized with the list kept in a secure place with other important papers. They will provide a vital reference source

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 32 Thurs., Jan. 17, 1974

In case of burglary, Officer Koberna explained. Window decals and car bumper stickers also are available to show the would-be intruder that the householder or auto owner is participating in "Operation Identification," the policeman said.

Koberna noted that the engraving pen will mark steel, glass, plastic, wood and almost any other hard surfaces.

"It requires no special skill to operate—just use it as you would any pen or pencil. Your own printing or handwriting is best," he said. He pointed out that only one number should be used for the entire family and that all removable parts of the item should be marked.

The engraved figures should be large enough to be easily discernible without defacing the item and the numbers should be etched in an obvious place.

Choice items for burglars which should be marked, include fishing and golf equipment, televisions, tape players, stereos, radios, cameras, typewriters, projectors, bicycles, guns, musical instruments, lawn mowers, snow blowers, expensive tools, jewelry and even fur.

Furs, a prime target of thieves, can be marked by using an indelible pen on the felt beneath the lining, Koberna said.

"Operation Identification" is part of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission's community service program to aid in reducing crime throughout the state with the public's help, the local police officer said.

New GC commissary to be 55,164 square feet

Officials of the Granite City Army Installation report they are proud of having obtained approval of a new commissary for the local facility.

A $1,313,251 contract for renovation of an existing vacant structure (Building 231) on the base was awarded last week to L. Wolf Construction Co. of Granite City to house the new facility.

Officials at the base said the new store, housing 55,164 feet of sales, office and storage area, will be similar to a large supermarket.

The old commissary building will be declared surplus when the new building has been occupied. The present building and most furnishings, including shelving and sales materials, will go on the auction block.

The commissary presently serves 1,500 active duty military personnel plus retirees from throughout the St. Louis area.

The old commissary was designed for sales of $100,000 per month, while the new facility will be designed for sales of $300,000 per month.

The vacant concrete building is being renovated within a 12-month period, according to the contract. Army officials hope the timetable can be advanced if necessary materials are available.

One completed, the sales area will cover 22,856 square feet with another 2,790 square feet being used for mezzanine offices. The remaining 19,548 square feet will be used primarily for warehousing.

The existing commissary has six check-out lanes, and the new building will have 13. While a small gravelled area now is used for parking, a paved and lighted lot for 200 cars will await shoppers at the new facility.

Three charged in complaints

Three young men have been charged in connection with an alleged disturbance at the home of Phyllis Strubberg, 2808 Kirkpatrick Homes, Jan. 1.

She signed complaints charging battery and criminal damage to property against Charles Townsend, 25, of 2020 Victory Drive; Robert Odom, 17, of 2533 Stratford Lane; and Robert O. Littlejohn, 22, of Ridgeway, Tenn.

Townsend and Littlejohn were arrested Monday at Townsend's home and Odom was arrested at a restaurant in the 3000 block of Madison Avenue. Each was released on $20 bond.

AUTO STRIKES TREE

Marlet Swigert, 28, of 2222 Sheridan Ave., was injured when his auto, southbound in the 2100 block of Monroe Ave., slid on ice into a tree at 11:10 p.m. Friday. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with injuries to his head and right knee.

Cassie Bunker, 2224 Adams St., suffered minor injuries when the car of George Bunker, of the same address, and Maureen Sovers, 2607 Sheridan Ave., collided at Edwards and Henry streets this week.

Birchhill gets Smith post

Jack M. Birchhill, 38, has been named director of merchandising and public relations by A. O. Smith Corp. He formerly was director of public relations.

A company spokesman said the move was made to bring together all communication functions under one executive branch.

In his new position Birchhill will be responsible for supervision of all advertising and merchandising as well as internal and external public relations for the corporation.

The company employs nearly 20,000 individuals in 25 manufacturing plants throughout the U. S. and has operations in four foreign countries. Its Granite City plant manufactures auto frames.

A native of Ohio, Birchhill joined A. O. Smith in 1969.

Prior to that he was director of public relations at Clevite Corp. in Cleveland.

Before entering the public relations field he was city manager of Elyria, Ohio, with a population of 50,000. He also held positions of state editor on the Daily Elyria Chronicle Telegram, was a staff correspondent for United Press International and has written for radio, television and magazines.

He is a four-year veteran of the U. S. Navy and is a graduate of the University of Toledo where he earned a degree in journalism.

BURGLARY ON OHIO

Second arrest after burglary

Granite City police Monday made a second arrest in connection with a burglary Sunday at the home of Ernest Barry, 2225 Kilarney Drive.

Harvey Eugene Broyles, 20, of 1942 Adams St., was arrested at 4 p.m. Monday at 20th and Adams streets and charged with burglary. Earlier Monday, David Parks, 20, of 5151 Old Alton Road, had the same charge lodged against him.

Parks was released on an $8,000 recognizance bond and Broyles was taken to the Madison County Jail with bond set at $10,000.

Nation's Chief Scout to be Optimist guest

Alden G. Barber, chief scout executive of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be the guest speaker Thursday noon, Jan. 24, at the Granite City Optimist Club meeting in the YMCA. The announcement was made at the group's meeting Thursday by Optimist G. H. Sternberg.

Special invitations to all area service clubs are being sent by Optimist chief President David Fox.

Optimist leaders including Hugh H. Cranford, national executive secretary; Paul Hoagland, national activities director; and Thomas Watson, national youth activities director, also will attend the meeting to meet the nation's "Chief Scout."

Sternberg is chairman of the youth activities committee for Optimist International. Fox announced that a special program is being developed with the "Y" staff to have some special activities in the near future on Saturdays for grade school children.

Optimist Capt. Ed Edwards, company commander of Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 130th Infantry of the Illinois National Guard, explained the guard program to the club.

David Brooks announced that next week's program will concern cross-connection problems in water distribution. Ronald Skrabacz, assistant distribution superintendent for the East St. Louis and Suburban Water Co., will be the guest speaker.

Conservation urged but power needs being met

By C. E. MATHIAS
Service Area Manager
Illinois Power Company

Forecasting for 1974 is even more difficult than past years. Supplying electricity and natural gas during this period of energy crisis means that we must not only consider the needs of our customers, but must also give some consideration to the needs of the country.

There may still be many people who feel the energy crisis is questionable—was it Illinois Power that did not have this doubt, but believe that the crisis will be with us for many years to come.

We intend to continue to do all possible to assure our customers of an ample supply of electricity. Our long-range plans are based on that premise.

The 600,000-kilowatt unit No. 2 at Baldwin was placed in service on schedule early in 1973. Another unit of the same capacity at that location is scheduled for completion early in 1973.

In 1973, a coal-fired unit of 450,000 Kw is scheduled for completion at our Havana plant.

Also scheduled are two 950,000 Kw nuclear generating units at a new plant site at Clinton, Ill., the first of these is planned for operation in 1980.

At the present time, 91 per cent of our generating capacity is coal-fired.

If there are no restrictive regulations placed on the use of coal for our generators, or no uncontrolled delays imposed on our nuclear construction program, we should be able to meet the electrical requirements of our customers.

Natural gas is another matter. It is not a commodity that we can manufacture; we must depend on our suppliers.

To date, there has been no additional pipeline gas made available to our company, nor do we foresee such additional capacity in the immediate future.

We have steadily increased our underground storage capacity by developing new fields and increasing the capacity of existing fields.

This, plus the installation of propane air mixing plants, has allowed us to continue uninterrupted service to our firm customers and to periodically add Priority I or residential customers to our lines.

C. E. MATHIAS

Present information indicates that there will be at least no major change in this trend. Pending decisions before the Federal Power Commission could have impact on this statement.

We shall continue making natural gas available for cooking and water heating for residential application, but space heating will be available on a permit basis only.

Our electric work forces will primarily be concerned with improved maintenance of our lines, which tend to minimize leakage of some of the older lines presently in service.

Our electric work forces will be involved with the installation of a number of new electric substations and the increased line capacities will be better service to our customers.

Existing or new customers requiring additional capacity will be required to give us a longer lead time for any expanded facilities, since we are having great difficulty in obtaining material for this type of construction.

It is not at all uncommon for us to have a two-year lead time for some items of equipment. The petroleum industry is having great difficulty meeting the demands of our people. It seems this difficulty will remain with us for a number of years in the future.

We believe that new construction will, therefore, require electric heat.

This, plus the installation of propane air mixing plants, has allowed us to continue uninterrupted service to our firm customers and to periodically add Priority I or residential customers to our lines.

We have steadily increased our underground storage capacity by developing new fields and increasing the capacity of existing fields.

Senate commends Eulalia Hotz

An Illinois Senate resolution commending Miss Eulalia Hotz of Edwardsville for her long service as county clerk of Madison County, and wishing her well upon her retirement, was adopted in the Senate last week.

The resolution was introduced by State Sen. Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville who noted that Miss Hotz began her career in the courthouse 40 years ago and that she served eight consecutive four-year terms as county clerk.

Miss Hotz has announced her retirement effective upon expiration of her present term of office in December.

Tough new Illinois law bans littering

If you're thinking about dumping grass clippings, furniture, wrecked vehicles, oil, newspapers, rubbish or "any noxious or offensive matter" on private or public property, including highways or rest stops, or in rivers, lakes or other bodies of water in Illinois, one word of advice: don't.

As of Jan. 1, it's against the law, and it carries a pretty stiff fine.

Offenders face a $10-$500 fine or, if items are thrown from a moving vehicle, possible license suspension or revocation.

Better known as the Litter Control Act, it also provides for information regarding the act to be included on the written driver's license examinations as well as in schools' driver training courses. This includes provisions relative to motor vehicle operation. Mandatory litter receptacles on both public and private property also are defined in the act.

The Secretary of Transportation and Director of Conservation are responsible for prescribing the types of litter receptacles placed on property within their respective jurisdictions, while owners of private property are charged with this responsibility.

Failure to comply with the provision carries a $100 fine. Even littering one's own property, if it so constitutes a "public nuisance or in such a manner that the litter may be blown or otherwise carried by the natural elements" onto another person's property, is now unlawful. The new law outlaws the abandonment of motor vehicles on any highway or public property or private property not owned by the vehicle owner.

About 6,000 vehicles are removed from the state's highways each year, according to estimates by Illinois State Police.

Another area hard hit with litter is the state's rest stops. However, a $10-$500 fine for the first offense, $25-$100 for the second and $50-$500 for the third (and this stands for all anti-litter offenses) may deter anyone hauling litter and dumping it in, around or on top of trash barrels on the highways or in rest stops.

If any of these offenses occur from a moving vehicle, the driver may be charged with a moving violation.

Basically, conviction of not less than three offenses against traffic regulations governing the movement of vehicles—a moving violation—within 12 months may result in license suspension or revocation.

The State Police have been enforcing anti-litter laws for the last few years, but will put special emphasis on enforcing the new law, a spokesman for the Department of Law Enforcement told the Press-Record.

SIUE usage of fuels declines

For the second consecutive month, SIUE has reduced use of natural gas and electricity on the campus, compared with 1972 figures.

During December, natural gas consumption was cut 29.6 per cent below the 1972 level, C. N. Moorleghen, assistant vice president for business affairs, said Friday. The university used 30,325,100 cubic feet of gas in December 1972 and only 21,490,000 cubic feet last month, resulting in a saving of 9,035,100 cubic feet.

Electricity used in December was down 6.5 per cent from the 1972 figure, 1,895,371 kilowatt hours of electricity were used in 1972, and last month SIUE used 1,771,200 for a saving of 124,171 kilowatt hours.

Death rate 1 in 100

It may have been a year of turmoil and woe, but the troubles of 1973 did not affect the mortality rate any in this country.

At least not according to insurance statisticians, who report that mortality in the U.S. in 1973 was 9.4 per 1,000 population, virtually the same as in 1972.

Further, 1973 marked the 26th consecutive year in which a death rate below 10 per 1,000 population was registered in this nation.

Mortality from heart disease, responsible for about two-fifths of all deaths in this country, was fractionally lower in 1973 than the year earlier.

The decrease in death rates from the ischemic type of heart disease, better known as arteriosclerotic or coronary heart disease, was less than 1 per cent in the general population. Cancer mortality, which ranks second to heart disease as a cause of death, showed a slight increase in the general population.

Mortality from diabetes showed a decrease of 8 per cent, but that from cirrhosis of the liver increased about 2 per cent. Mortality from influenza and pneumonia was relatively unchanged from 1972.

Provisional data indicates that the number of motor vehicle accident fatalities in 1973 decreased somewhat from that in 1972.

The gasoline shortage and the lowering of speed limits in the last two months if the year appeared to contribute to the reduction in traffic fatalities.

The homicide rate in 1973 showed a further increase.

Infant mortality, which had registered a record low of 18.3 per 1,000 live births in 1972, continued to decline and may establish a new low between 17 and 18 in 1980.

Between 1963 and 1973, the infant mortality rate in the United States declined about 30 per cent, or more than three times the decrease between 1963 and 1965.

Ask the Governor

Q. During a business meeting of the Adams County Fair, it was mentioned that you are planning to cut off rehabilitation help and premium money. If this is just a rumor, can I have your word? - Mrs. J. S. Clayton.

A. I am very pleased to see this question which allows me an opportunity to respond to rumors.

That was a charge that was made against me when I was running for governor. Circulars were distributed at county fairs throughout the state all carrying the same lie.

I was not then. I am not now against county fairs. I am surprised to hear that the same lie is being revived. I would appreciate it very much if you would tell your friends that I fully support the fairs.

I would like to point out that I approved $1,422,700 for premium aid and $550,000 for the rehabilitation of county fairgrounds.

There has been no cut to county fair or 4-H club aid in my administration.

Fairs are a vital part of agriculture as well as the development of our state's youth and fun for all-including the governor. I am looking forward to visiting many of the county fairs this coming year.

Boaters will get fair share of fuel, BIA spokesman says

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Fuel will be available for recreational boating in 1974 and it will be available in the same proportions as it is to all other "non-priority" users, according to Matt Kaufmann, president of the Boating Industry Association (BIA).

Kaufmann said that William H. Johnson, director of the Policy Analysis Division of the Federal Energy Office (FEO), told boating industry leaders meeting with him in Washington that contrary to earlier news pronouncements, the FEO had no plans to eliminate fuel for use in recreational boats.

His proposals do not discriminate among classes of users who purchase gasoline at the retail level," an FEO spokesman said.

The boating group was also advised the FEO in line with the attempt of legislation now before Congress wanted to avoid the possible unemployment that could occur if any one industry had to assume more than its share of the burden.

At the present time there are 350,000 fulltime employees and another 100,000 seasonal workers in the boating industry. Area boat supply firms and marinas report "considerable concern" among boaters and prospective boat owners about the availability of fuel for pleasure boating this year, it was learned.

Kaufmann said the latest statements from Washington indicate that we are not as short of fuel as we first thought.

Last week, the FEO made public a highly favorable report indicating that the nation's gasoline demand was 18.6 per cent below forecasts for the week ending Dec. 28 and 7.7 per cent below forecasts for the month.

Demand for the four major petroleum products, of which gasoline is one, was 13 per cent below forecast for the week ending Dec. 28 and 6.3 per cent below forecast for the four-week period prior to that date.

Kaufmann said that the mandatory fuel allocations list issued by the Federal Energy Office and accompanying regulations, which became effective Dec. 27, call for a 5 per cent cutback on gasoline production.

He noted that refiners, using the 1972 month as a base period, will produce 5 per cent less in the corresponding month of 1974; priority users will get all the fuel they require; but whatever remains for non-priority users will be distributed on a non-discriminatory basis.

A marina operator can't get more than 90 per cent of the fuel he got in the same 1972 period month, Kaufmann stated.

He estimated that retailers, including marinas, will get no less than 70 per cent of what they had last year during the first three months of 1974.

The BIA executive stressed that prospects are that gasoline available to all types of activities will be increased in March as the demand for heating oil drops.

According to recent United States registration figures, pleasure boats consuming fuel numbered over seven million, with nonpower boats totaling over two million.

Building work at Venice down

The city of Venice issued building permits during 1973 for construction of property having a total value of $73,900, a compilation of building statistics showed this week.

The 1973 building was a decline of $89,980, or 37 per cent, below the 1972 building value of $172,880.

Permits issued during 1973 included six mobile homes with a combined value of $35,200; two new residences worth $29,500; repairs to two residences at $4,500; two room additions valued at $3,300 and three carports at $1,450.

hard-won battles which have made Walker's first year so easy. But Walker's best tests lie ahead.

Soon he, like Ogilvie, must make big and probably unpopular decisions. Perhaps his achievements will surpass Ogilvie's. But after one year, Walker's record is a distant second.

Another gold album for Paul McCartney

Well, you can chalk up another gold album for Paul McCartney and Wings as he proves he not only can do it again and again, but also better and better. "Band On The Run" on the Apple Label and distributed by Capitol Records took off to such a fast pace that it wound up in the top 30 after only one week of sales.

The hit cut "Helen Wheels" would have been enough to insure chart success for Paul's LP, but as usual he offers an additional nine cuts all of which are equally fine. Cut in London and Lagos, this album includes smoking rock, vibrant instrumentals and of course a couple of soft, subtle ballads.

Few people have enjoyed the kind of track record that Paul has amassed with and without his former associates the Beatles. And "Band On The Run" proves that there's plenty of mileage left in him.

All the tunes were penned by McCartney with the exception of "No Words," which was co-written by Denny Laine. Side one starts off with the rocking title cut and slides smoothly into "Jet," which is extremely reminiscent of the Beatles' early studio work. This is followed by the tender sensitive ballad "Bluebird" sung by Paul and his wife Linda.

Side two begins with the ballad "Mama's" and "No Words" then flashes into the super hot "Helen Wheels." You'll find a little of everything in "Picasso's Last Words (Drink To Me)" from a French interlude to a drunken chorus. And those sax solos that you hear popping up now and then are due to Howie Casey.

A great deal of McCartney's success is due to his ability to establish a full sound using the harmonic weaving of his clear, crisp vocals and the driving professionalism of the band. With the wide range of talents that the group has, which they often and easily let run free in any direction, its plain to see how Paul and his band in the run found that pot of gold once again. Also included with the album is a large poster covered with candid photos of Paul, Linda and the band.

There's not much one can say about Bette Midler that hasn't already been said at least a thousand times before. Therefore let's skip the adjectives and take a look at her second album for Atlantic Records simply titled "Bette Midler."

Once again Barry Manilow has supplied her with a batch of distinctive arrangements, as Bette accompanies herself on three cuts with just a piano, using an orchestra and backup vocals on all the other tunes.

Ms. Midler does an exceptionally fine job on the Dublin-Warren classic, "Lullaby of Broadway," and Carmichael-Mercer's "Skylark." A little more spark is added to the fire as she runs through "The Doo Run Run," "Uptown" and "Drinking Again." There's also an interesting, rousing version of Dylan's "I Shall Be Released," which may be a little overdone, especially to those who are followers and lovers of the little prophet's unique style of folk singing. However, album number two won't have any trouble finding its way to the top of the charts for the Divine Miss M.

"Freedom For The Stallion" on RCA Records is the Hues Corporation's first LP on this label, and if first impressions always influence you, then this new one is sure to entice you with its melodic ear-grabbing sounds. Medical School growth sought

A speedy go-ahead on construction of the second phase of Southern Illinois University-Carbondale's School of Medicine teaching facilities at Springfield has been asked by the SIUC board of trustees.

The university's trustees recommended that the Illinois Capital Development Board award contracts totaling $6,383,094 for the stage-two building. It will include classrooms, offices, laboratories, auditoriums, animal facilities, a library addition and a bio-medical communications center.

The board said shortages of construction materials make it "imperative" that work start soon.

The first SIUC School of Medicine building in Springfield—also a teaching-office structure—is complete except for some inside finishing, and will be in use for the school's second-year students this year. It cost $2,700,000.

SIUC will not construct hospital teaching facilities. Instead, students will get their clinical training at Springfield's two major hospitals, St. John's and Memorial.

Jones-Blythe Construction Co. of Springfield was recommended for the general construction contract, at $4,188,800.

SIUC apartment rates rise

On-campus residence hall and family apartment rates will go up this fall at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale. The SIUC board has approved room and board rate hikes averaging $43 a year for residence halls and $5 to $10 a month for married student apartments.

Increases are necessary, said the board, because of "inflationary trends anticipated for 1974-75"—including rises of five per cent for utilities, 15 to 20 per cent for food, 10 per cent for supplies, and nearly five per cent for personnel.

The full academic year room-board rate for the three campus residence hall areas—Thompson Point, University Park and Brush Towers—will go from $1,155 to $1,198.

Room-only rates at the campus Group Housing area will be upped from $582 to $602. The monthly rental for a one-bedroom furnished apartment at the Southern Hills apartment project will go from $122 to $127 and the two-bedroom rate will rise from $127 to $137. Utilities are included.

A rent increase from $125 to $130 will be charged for the six low bids received for all construction work came in $26,000 above the architect's estimates, according to Rino Bianchi, SIUC director of facilities planning.

Marine promoted

Stanley D. Hale, 20, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hale of 2517 Ronney Drive, has been promoted to the rank of lance corporal while stationed at Kenosha Bay, Hawaii, with the U.S. Marine Corps.

Hale, a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School-South, completed his basic training at Parris Island, S. C., before being assigned to Hawaii.

New admission policy at SIUC

A change in policy for admitting out-of-state and transfer students to Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has been approved by SIUC trustees.

Present requirements limit out-of-state admittees to those in the upper 40 per cent of their high school class, and admit those in the upper half of their class but not in the upper 40 per cent to summer conditional enrollment only.

In-state students are admitted if they are in the upper half of their high school class, or are accepted for summer conditional enrollment if they fall below that rank.

The new resolution eliminates the difference between criteria for out-of-state and in-state admission and restricts summer conditional enrollment to in-state students.

Presently, transfer students with less than a C average may be admitted on probation for the summer term provided that tangible evidence is submitted that these students can successfully complete additional education.

The new resolution changes this policy to provide for admission of such students on probation in any term and broadens the definition of "tangible evidence."

Advocates of the modification said there is no rational basis for granting preferential admission status to in-state students at a time when enrollments have leveled off in higher education. The recommendation for modification contained in the resolution said, "Now that the university has room for additional students, such discrimination appears to make little sense by any standards."

New effort planned to agree on MERTA board

A third meeting on the organization of a governing board for secondary sewage treatment in Madison, Venice, East St. Louis and other areas is to be scheduled later this month in Washington Park.

The first meeting was held Jan. 3 in Madison and Mayor James E. Williams of East St. Louis hosted the second session Jan. 9.

At both sessions, mayors and township representatives openly expressed an unwillingness to accept the Metro-East Regional Treatment Association (MERTA) plan which was contrived by Williams, Mayor Paul Sauget of Sauget and Jack Scoville, president of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The heads of the communities involved agree regionalism will save money in secondary treatment but disagree on the structure of a board to oversee the selling of bonds for the plant and the setting of sewage treatment rates.

Building one plant to serve East St. Louis and surrounding communities, including Madison and Venice, could save the communities involved as much as $100,000 each year, according to studies. All existing primary sewage treatment plants would direct their flows to the secondary treatment plant.

Construction of secondary treatment plants is being ordered by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, which also is stressing the use of a regional approach.

A study by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPAC) recommended Granite City building its own plant which also would serve Narneski, Chouteau and Venice townships. SIMAPAC also has recommended that Madison and Venice be linked with East St. Louis, despite statements from Mayor Mike Sasyk that his community would rather utilize the Granite City plant.

"This issue is threatening to sink us," Sasyk has said, adding that the plan linking Madison and Venice to East St. Louis "is like a noose around our necks and we can't shake it off."

Sasyk hosted the first meeting in an attempt to reach a compromise on the makeup of the governing board.

The original MERTA plan, which has been endorsed by the state but requires the approval of the communities involved, calls for only three members of the governing board, Williams, Sauget and Scoville.

The heads of 14 other communities would serve on an advisory body which would have authority to vote on issues only when one of the three principal governing board members voted to veto the issue. A majority vote by the governing board then would decide the question.

Several alternate plans have been presented, including two by Sasyk. One called for the three principal users, Williams, Sauget and Scoville, to have permanent seats with four rotating seats going to the smaller communities. That plan was eliminated after conversation at the Jan. 3 meeting.

Sasyk's second plan, presented Jan. 9, called for elimination of the levee board from the governing body and setting up a five-man board with only Williams and Sauget having permanent seats and the other three seats rotating among the smaller communities. That plan, also, has not received support by the principals, notably Williams and Scoville.

Williams sticks by the position that East St. Louis will have 40 per cent of the flow into the new plant and that he will not settle for less than 40 per cent, or perhaps one-third, of the voting authority.

Scoville contends the levee district is responsible for the majority of primary treatment in the area and can not be eliminated from the governing body of the secondary treatment facility. Thus, the stand-off.

Sasyk said he feels an equitable agreement can and will be reached. He said progress has been made at both meetings on the issue and he expects the progress to continue at the next session.

Defer most SIUE issues

The Southern Illinois University board, meeting at Carbondale Thursday, referred until February most topics related to the SIUE campus. Local administrators were unable to make the trip due to icy weather. Four trustees were present.

The board authorized room and board rate hikes averaging $45 a year for SIUC residence halls and $8 to $10 a month for married student apartments there.

Trustees decided that students 19 and older may drink beer or wine in the residence hall rooms. Such beverages will continue to be banned in SIUC dining halls, lounges, indoor areas and grounds.

The board asked the SIUC faculty senate to furnish proof of charges made in a senate resolution calling for replacement of President David R. Derge. The employee group cites layoff of 104 employees, and action Dr. Derge blames on a $15 million budget cut by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

In a further move, the board voted to modify plans for a proposed School of Technical Careers. It will be relocated from a site southwest of the Arena to the SIUC School of Engineering and Technology, closer to the central campus. A quarter of the originally planned floor space will be eliminated.

It was decided to tighten admission policies on out-of-state and transfer students at SIUC.

Robert Dean Isbell, assistant treasurer, was named to serve as acting SIU board treasurer. Robert Gallegally, board treasurer, is retiring.

New Port facility

Apex Oil Co., which operates the former National Marine Liquid Terminal and two new tanks at the Tri-City Regional Port, is planning construction of a new boiler building at the dock and will install another steam boiler in the floating dock now used for an office and operational area.

The new building will be about 40 foot square and will house two new boilers for keeping number six fuel oil in the two new 6,300,000 gallon storage tanks hot. Providing offices in the building also is being contemplated.

Number six oil must be kept at about 120 degrees or it becomes too thick to pump in and out of the tank.

Until the boilers are completed and pumping lines have been insulated, the one tank is about half full of number two oil which does not require heating. The oil is being stored for Archer Daniels Midland Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and is being shipped on call by truck to Iowa.

Apex also took over three tanks from National Marine on the Aug. 6 change-over date, two containing liquid fertilizer and one for caustic soda. About one dozen barges have been unloaded by the company since it began operations here, some being loaded into the tanks and some into trucks.

Plans also include a new steam generating boiler in the floating barge which will be used to warm liquids in barges to aid in pumping liquids from the vessels.

A barge of number six oil was expected to arrive today to be pumped into trucks. Three persons now are employed by Apex here, the third having been hired Dec. 10.

Sacred Heart scene of Chaback-Plese wedding

The wedding of Miss Lucia Katherine Plese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plese, 2750 Grand Ave., and Dr. Joseph John Chaback Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chaback of Linden, N.J., was solemnized in an 11 o'clock morning ceremony on Dec. 22 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Bouquets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and ferns adorned the altar. The sanctuary was decorated with freshly cut Christmas trees and the center aisle was carpeted in white.

The double ring service was performed by the Rev. Joseph A. Enright, pastor. Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw, organist, played the nuptial music, including "Because," "O Perfect Love," "Silent Night," "What Child This," "Ave Maria" and "Star of the East."

For her gown the bride chose ivory-colored tulle, a peau fashion in a princess silhouette. The English net yoke had a high neckline enhanced with pearl and sequin motifs. Re-embroidered Alencon lace applique with pearls and sequins trellised from the bodice through the skirt. The jeweled lace motifs were repeated on the long, full bishop sleeves. Mushroom pleats ruffled the entire hemline and extended into the full sweep train.

A camelot headpiece of re-embroidered Alencon lace was secured to a long mantilla veil, bordered with lace and appliques that cascaded to the sweep of the bride's train. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white roses and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in ruby red velvet. Their frocks were made with Empire bodices featuring a square neckline, edged in green, gold and multi-colored French flowers in shades of deep pink. Matching trim encircled the waistline and cuffed the long sleeves.

Each of the bride's attendants held a bouquet of pink carnations with pink streamers. Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Gerald Martin. The bridesmaids were Miss Denise Mizulski and Miss Christy Spanholtz. All are cousins of the bride.

Jared Paul Martin, the bride's godchild, was ringbearer and escorted Marcee Renee Martin, flower girl. She wore a full length dress made with a bodice of shirred pink chiffon and a skirt of ruby red velvet. The neckline was high and the sleeves were fashioned in the full shepherdess look. She carried a basket of red rose petals.

Virgil Stubbfield attended the groom as best man. Roger Lowery, Charles Plese, the bride's brother, and Steve and Rick Mizulski, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Plese, the mother of the bride, chose a long gown of Dior blue chiffon designed with an Empire bodice of matching colored bands, pearls, crystals and iridescent sequins. The jeweled outlined the horseshoe neckline and trimmed the long, full sleeves.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Chaback, selected a pink floor length frock of crepe with a straight skirt and lace bodice. A long sleeve jacket was fitted to the hips. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception at The Crest House in St. Louis.

The bride received her B.S. and M.S. (research) degrees in chemistry from St. Louis University. She is a graduate teaching assistant pursuing her doctoral degree in chemistry.

Dr. Chaback obtained his B.S. degree summa cum laude from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa. He earned his M.S. and D.Sc. degrees in chemical engineering from Washington University, St. Louis.

The groom is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. His fraternities include Phi Eta Sigma and Tau Beta Pi.

Dr. Chaback has accepted a position with the Esso Research and Engineering Company in Baytown, Tex. The couple is now residing in the Houston-Baytown area.

Mrs. Angie Hartman is hostess to club

The Thursday Night Bunco Club held its first meeting of the new year last week in the home of Mrs. Angie Hartman, 2300 State St.

Those excelling at games and winning prizes were Mrs. Celeste Johnson, first; Mrs. Lorine Menzie, second; Mrs. Myrtle Bruns, third; and the hostess, fourth.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Hartman to those named and to Mrs. Alice Koester, Mrs. Elsie Banaszak, Mrs. Velma Radfield and Mrs. Louise Orr, who will entertain the group next time at her home, 2844 Iowa St.

Energy, campaigns, budget reform, impeachment on agenda—Price

By MELVIN PRICE
Member of Congress
When the 93rd Congress reconvenes this month, it will face one of its most challenging sessions in recent years. The energy crisis will be the most urgent matter dealt with, but other important issues will also be considered.

The year of 1974 promises to be one of challenge not only for the representatives of the people but for the people themselves. The energy crisis and its consequences may require sacrifice by many citizens and impose hardships on others. But through a spirit of cooperation and community, the nation will persevere in this time of adversity as it has others in the past.

During the last session, Congress took measures to ease the impact of fuel shortages, and more legislation directed at the same objective will be considered in early 1974.

The most important piece of energy legislation, the Emergency Energy Act, will be up for immediate consideration. The Act was near final passage in December, but the House could not agree to a Senate version, basically because it did not include a provision limiting windfall profits for oil companies.

The Act will give the President wide-ranging powers—including authority to ration fuel—to stabilize the energy situation.

Congress will also consider other bills designed to cope with the energy problem, including one which would set up a Federal Energy Administration.

There is a major bill on energy research and development which will be important in preventing a recurrence of the shortage. Congress will take a fresh look at development of coal resources, and Southern Illinois could play an important role in such plans.

Already, the Department of Interior is studying a plan to build a coal liquefaction and gasification plant in Southern Illinois.

It is difficult to predict now whether gasoline rationing will become necessary in 1974.

If the people are willing to take voluntary energy conservation measures, then rationing may be avoided. In any case, rationing should not be considered until all available alternatives have proven ineffective.

While dealing with the energy dilemma, however, Congress will not be neglecting other pressing issues.

A campaign finance law, passed by the Senate, will come up before the House in early 1974. The need for this kind of law, which sets limits on expenditures by and contributions to candidates for federal office, is clear in the wake of the 1972 Presidential election scandals.

The bill would also create a Federal Elections Commission to enforce the new laws.

Congress will consider an important pension bill which would assure that employees who work for a private retirement fund will have a vested interest in such payments.

Budget reform is also on the legislative agenda. The House passed a bill last session which would give Congress a greater voice in the budget process, and the issue now awaits Senate action.

Other pending bills provide for funding of elementary and secondary education and housing and community development.

There is also a possibility that a national health insurance program will come up for consideration.

Before midyear, the House Judiciary Committee is expected to submit its report on impeachment of the President.

If the committee concludes that the President has committed impeachable offenses under the Constitution, 1974

Bill proposes SIUE autonomy

Legislation creating a separate Board of Trustees for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been introduced by Sen. Sam M. Vandalabene. Vandalabene had announced his intention to introduce the measure earlier.

"My primary intention is to put the university under a governing board that will give its full attention to the special concerns and responsibilities of the institution to the area it serves," Vandalabene said.

"The university at Edwardsville has developed into a commuter campus involved in an enormous and complicated metropolitan area, the second largest urban area in the state.

"For years we have been hearing talk about making it independent and autonomous. A few years ago, some positive steps were taken to that end; however, in recent years there has been a good deal of concern expressed inside and outside the university that some backward moves are being considered.

"This bill, if nothing else, will generate a full and vigorous public discussion as to how the institution should be guided over the long-range future. For myself, I don't see how the university can realize the fullness of its potential unless it has a board fully cognizant of its problems and directly involved with its development on all levels. It just doesn't seem to me that the present board structure meets these requirements."

Vandalabene intends to hold a series of public hearings on the bill, so that all viewpoints can be given consideration before a final determination is made by the legislature.

As introduced, the bill would create a Board of Trustees for SIUE. It would transfer management, control, operation and maintenance of the local campus from the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University to the new board.

Powers and duties of the new board are defined, including those respecting issuance of revenue bonds.

The legislation would become effective July 1, 1975, except for appointment of board members and for such steps as are appropriate to enable the new board to take control on that date.

School election filing set

The Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night approved resolutions and notices in preparation for the April 13 school board election.

The board set the filing period from 8 a.m. Feb. 27 to 4:30 p.m. March 22, with petitions to be filed at the Board of Education office, 20th and Adams streets.

For the convenience of those wishing to file early, the board approved arrangements for the secretary of the board, George Moore Sr., to be at the board office from 8 to 9 a.m. Feb. 27, the first day of the filing period.

Petitions after that period may be filed with Moore or with Mrs. Martha Rochester at the board office during regular business hours.

Board members whose terms expire are Moore, President Donald W. Stucke and Harold Davis. Davis is the only rural member whose term is expiring.

State law requires that at least two rural members be elected. Carl Macios is the other rural member. His term does not expire this year.

Qualifications for candidates are being reviewed by the board. Candidates must be at least 21 years of age, be a citizen of the United States and must have been a resident of the state and the district for at least one year immediately preceding the election.

The board must file a Statement of Economic Interests with the Madison County clerk, the board was told.

The board approved 16 polling places which will be open from noon to 7 p.m. April 13, for balloting. Polling places follow:

Precinct 1—McKinley School, 22nd and Iowa; Oct. 2—Lake School, 2301 E. 23rd; Prec. 3—Washington School, 2600 W. 20th; Prec. 4—Logan School, 2400 W. 25th; Prec. 5—Emerson School, 28th and Benton; Prec. 6—Webster School, 25th and Kate; Prec. 7—Marshall School, Marshall and Victory; Prec. 8—Niedringhaus School, 29th and State.

Prec. 9—Frohhardt School, 2400 Johnson; Prec. 10—Maryville

School, 4651 Maryville; Prec. 11—Wilson School, 2400 Wilson; Prec. 12—Namecki School, 1620 Pontoon; Prec. 13—Parkview School, 3200 Maryville; Prec. 14—Mitchell School, 316 Chain of Rocks; Prec. 15—Stallings School, 4401 Highway 162, and Prec. 16—Johnson School, 4225 Old Alton Road.

Voters are required to be registered to vote in general elections from a residence located in the precinct and the school district, the board members were reminded.

VANDALISM APARTMENT
Vandalism broke into the apartment building of John Reed and Dennis Wick, 1642 E. 23rd St., broke off two water faucets in the basement and allowed the water to fill the basement. The water froze, causing damage to the building. It was reported at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Troopers use less gasoline

There once was a young lady named Bright,
Whose speed was far faster than light,
She set out one day
In a relative way,
And returned home the old English limerick written by Arthur Henry Reginald Butler.

Today, the young lady named Bright would be hard pressed to set out on her speedy journey on one of the nation's highways observing the 55 miles per hour speed limit. And soon it will be nationwide.

Some state agencies are being reviewed by the lower limit, and the results have been promising.

For example, beginning Nov. 1 to the Illinois state police began 50 miles per hour routine patrols, plus 15 minutes per hour stationary patrols. These measures were taken in response to the energy and budgetary crises.

The total area in and some savings were realized.

For example, during October, 353,536 gallons of gas were used by the state police vehicles. The next month, with 21 days under the reduced speed limit, 304,334 gallons were consumed, a reduction of 49,202 gallons.

Compared with November 1972, with 374,823 gallons consumed, a saving of 70,489 gallons was realized in the November 1973 figures.

Miles per gallon-wise, October 1973 found the fleet average at 8.9 mpg while the November 1972 figure improved to 9.1 mpg.

During November 1972, the fleet average stood at 8.2 mpg. The nearly 17,000 vehicles used by the state police are primarily standard sized vehicles.

Bids are usually taken when a vehicle registers 45,000 miles, but it is closer to 80,000 before they are traded in, according to a spokesman for the state police.

1,000 attend GCHS-N dance

By KATHY MILLER
GCHS-N Students
Granite City High School North's 50's and 60's dance turned out to be one of the finest dances ever. Entertainment remained in "Creed" highlighted the event, attended by nearly 1,000 students.

Pontails, ruby red lipstick, saddle shoes, white socks, and straight-legged cuffed jeans added to the atmosphere of the "Fabulous 50's."

"I would like to thank everyone who dressed for the 50's dance and helped make it a great success. It's good to know that you can still have a lot of fun if everybody just gets in the spirit and participates," commented Miss Janet Morlen, Student Body president.

Cooperation at the dance was far better than expected and the turnout was excellent. Students really "dig this kind of stuff." A dance contest was held at 9:15. There were 18 entries, and dances were divided into groups of nine. Two couples were crowned from each group as to dancing ability. Among the four best were Ed Szczepank, Anita Landman, Terry Wallace, Karen McCrone, Dave Beth, Annette Niemeyer, Larry Box, and Jayne Harding.

In the final round, Ed Szczepank and Anita Landman were presented with trophies by Mayor Paul Schuler for the best dancers of the 50's.

For the best-dressed award, the judges walked through the crowd noticing the attire. Ed Settle dressed in a brown tweed suit with vest, bow tie, black pointed shoes, and duck's tail hairstyle, along with Liz Adams dressed in saddle shoes, red full-swing dress, and ponytail. were also presented trophies for best dressed from the 50's.

Judges serving in both categories were as follows: Mayor and Mrs. Schuler; Faculty Members Mr. and Mrs. David Ames, Andy Yurko, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Breidenbach, Miss Cindy Blumenstock, Miss Paula Gushoff, and Mrs. Harry E. Cook.

January graduates from South and the host school were honored at the dance. They were admitted into the dance free of charge upon presentation of their student I.D.'s.

The 50's assembly for North students took place on Friday between 2:15 and 3:20 p.m.

The "Jitterbug" and the 50's attire were judged by Student Council members and given a pass to enter the assembly. Students dressed for the occasion remained in class. Approximately 700 students attended the assembly.

The "Jitterbug" and the 50's attire were demonstrated by Assistant Principal, Victor Buehler, Cheerleader Spouses Mrs. Juli Sparks, P. E. Teacher Mrs. Terry Papa, Coach Chappell, and Counselor William Breidenbach and his wife.

At the closing of the assembly, the entire audience joined in on the dancing floor.

"I wish I lived back then," "Isn't it great how they were?" "I can't believe how much better everybody looked." "The 50's were 'fabulous,'" and "I wish we could have more dances like that," were just a few of the many comments received after the successful night of "Rock-N-Roll!"

Harry Cook, Student Council advisor, and all members extended a special thanks to Gilbert V. Wolmsley North principal, all faculty members, and chaperones for making the dance such a success.

Grain allotment forms available

Farms without a feed grain allotment may have an allotment for the 1974 program year established if they meet eligibility requirements. An application for a new farm feed grain allotment must be filed with the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office at Edwardsville, Illinois by Feb. 15.

Feed grain allotments for 1974 are established automatically for all eligible old feed grain farms. The new farm provision applies only to farms that do not have an allotment.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment, neither the owner nor the operator of the farm may have an interest in any other farm which has a feed grain allotment established for 1974. The operator must expect to obtain more than 50 per cent of his 1974 income for farming.

The farm for which an application is filed must be suitable for feed grain production without undue erosion.

Any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the ASCS office for an application by the filing date.

Sewers, fuel topics in Nameoki in 1974

"America is experiencing a gasoline shortage. Whether it is a business maneuver or not, it will have a great effect on the economy of our nation for years to come," Nameoki Township Louis E. Whittell said in a year-end review and forecast today. "The uncertain economic conditions, the energy shortage and continued inflationary trends are creating problems that are difficult to predict for 1974."

"Planners in the future might want to experiment with harnessing the wasted energy from this area, such as converting the heat from the steel company furnaces to steam that could be piped to our offices and homes. Another source of power that might be considered is the continuous flow of the Mississippi River," Whittell said.

"Our programs introduced as of 1973 that will become the determination of the future are the split of the East Side Levee District into five county districts, the Madison County four-township sewer program, Nameoki Township environmental programs and the Madison County nature trail. These programs will have a direct effect on our economic growth and development. However, we must encourage intergovernmental cooperation between the units of local government to better use our technical and financial resources."

"Once again, Nameoki Township will finish the 1973 fiscal year well into the 'black' due to excellent management and investments of surplus funds for interest. I predict there will be no tax increase from our entity government this year; however, if all of the other taxing bodies continue to increase their levies, our small tax levies will be insignificant in comparison. The final results of our sanitary sewer program will very likely become a reality in 1974, which may well be the key to bringing much-needed improvements and developments to Nameoki Township and the surrounding area."

"Not even the experts can forecast the outcome of 1974. We can expect some difficult times and some rewarding moments. But, all in all, we are located in an area that is blessed with more facilities than many other parts of the United States."

Shortages, inflation, delay pose problems

By DONALD G. ADAMS

President.

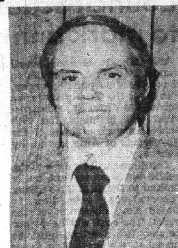

Granite City Glass Company The time has come for us to make plans for a new year of business. Last year at this time, we seemed to be worried about the loss of jobs in our community and what impact it would have on the local level. We again had the best year ever, with record sales. However, we experienced much higher material cost. Wages did not take as large a jump as in previous years.

There have been periods when certain materials were in short supply, but we think 1973 was the worst. What we used to get in two weeks may take six or eight weeks now. It is needless to say what happens to the price when the demand is greater than the supply.

We receive letters almost daily from suppliers and manufacturers giving the same old story: "Due to rising cost of raw materials, we can no longer absorb these increases without a price increase." Some items have doubled in price, such as wood doors and trim.

A year and a half ago, we could give a customer an estimate and it would hold good for three months, but now it may change the same week. It cannot all be blamed on the energy crisis. I got a laugh out of the sample gasoline rationing coupon that appeared in the newspaper and on television.

The picture of George Washington on the front of it. The "father of our country" did not get us in the mess that we are in today. It looks as though we could have found a more suitable picture—maybe a present-day politician. We would like to build onto the Auto Body Company and add additional space for auto glass installation. But we have decided to wait on that for awhile; a few months should tell our nation if the oil shortage is real or not.

A slowdown in production and import coupled, with stockpiling or hoarding, may be causing the shortage and higher prices.

The storage tank industry is doing well. If we do not have the oil, why build the tanks? There should be a lot of empty ones available.

I am sorry to say that my opinion is that things will get a lot worse before they get better. Maybe we lack enthusiasm as a community and as a nation. Men who believe in nothing change nothing for the better.

COUNTY SALES TAX

Distribution of $53,820 to the Madison County government as its share of sales taxes for the month of October 1973 was announced this week by the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Record fee collection

A record $3,116.187 was collected during 1973 in forced registrations from trucks entering Illinois without proper licensing, Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett announced this week.

This figure was almost double the $1,651,760 paid by unlicensed out-of-state truckers in 1972.

"Our emphasis on forced registration this past year has been of substantial importance to the Illinois trucking industry," Howlett said.

"They have been paying established license fees while many out-of-state truckers were using our highways in competition without the added costs."

Mainly responsible for the increased revenue was an extensive training program in the secretary of state's investigation division. Truck license violation procedures were stressed in the training of all 200 investigators. A three-shift schedule was instituted and out-of-state trucks are now checked on weekends.

"Another major factor has been the cooperation of the Illinois State Police, Illinois Commerce Commission and local police officers," Howlett explained.

Every truck using Illinois roads must have an Illinois based plate, an out-of-state based plate with a pro-rate decal, an Illinois reciprocity plate or trip permit.

Trucks without legal licensing are stopped until payment of the license is made. All money received is placed in the state road fund.

Statistics show that $1,287,011 was collected through forced registration in 1971; approximately $800,000 in 1970 and approximately $500,000 in 1969.

Move water main for Route 151 extension

By ROBERT L. JACKSON

District Manager, East St. Louis & Interurban Water Company. The Granite City District of the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Company brings 1973 to a close encouraged by the year's progress in numerous distribution system and purification plant improvements.

During the year, approximately 2 1/2 miles of main were installed for system replacement, and to supply service to approximately 65 new customers in the Tri-Cities area.

Most significant in this area of work was the installation of approximately 8,500 feet of 24-inch water main which now provides a continuous large diameter pipe linking our pumping station at 22nd and Logan Streets to the recently constructed 2-million-gallon ground storage tank and booster station located behind the Nameoki Village Shopping Center area.

This combined booster station tank and main installation project represents one of the finest system improvements to the Tri-Cities area possible. It now provides sufficient backup storage for better fire protection, and insures more stable water pressures—particularly during hot summer months when added demands are placed on the distribution system.

Pumping and purification plant improvements were hampered last spring due to the highest flood crests in recorded history, and all efforts were aimed at keeping our plant at Chouteau Island intact.

Despite tremendous area flood destruction, we continued to pump over 30 million gallons of raw water per day from this facility on the banks of the Mississippi to our treatment plants in Granite City and East St. Louis.

After the waters finally receded, we began the cleanup task of removing debris, sandbags, etc., and replacing a washed-out road to this plant.

We have now completed an entire cleaning and repainting

May donate to campaign fund

Taxpayers preparing their 1974 tax returns can take part in the 1974 Presidential election campaign fund by checking a box on the front of their Form 1040 or 1040A, Leon C. Green, district director of Internal Revenue for central and southern Illinois said this week.

"Under legislation enacted by Congress in 1971, every taxpayer with a tax liability of $1 or more for 1973 may designate $1 of his tax to the 1974 campaign fund if he wishes to do so," Green said. "And, if he hasn't already done so, he also may designate $1 of his 1972 tax to the same fund."

The campaign fund question appears as line 8 on both the short form 1040A and the 1040 form. If a taxpayer didn't earmark $1 of his 1972 taxes for the fund, he can do so by checking the box just above his signature on either form.

On a joint return, a husband and wife with an income tax liability of $2 or more may each designate $1 for the fund, for a total of $2, Green said. If a husband wishes to designate $1 and his wife does not, or vice versa, one should check the appropriate box and leave the other box blank.

"Participation by a taxpayer in the campaign fund will neither increase his tax nor reduce any refund due," Green said.

ROBERT L. JACKSON

of the interior of this approximately 50-year-old plant. Extensive maintenance and repairs were also accomplished on the 200- and 300-horsepower pump motors at this plant. In looking ahead to 1974, it appears that again we will have a progressive year. Planned highway construction on Route 151 at the vicinity of the Granite City Army Depot will require relocation of approximately 2,000 feet of 48-inch raw water main to accommodate the roadway in this much needed project.

We anticipate construction of approximately two miles of water main to supply an estimated 100 new customers in the Tri-Cities area.

Purification improvements will include the periodic replacement of the granular carbon in our filtering beds, which has proven to be a very fine filter media.

The overall look for 1974 is favorable. Although we anticipate some tightening of our belts in the coming year, signs indicate that this is a temporary condition. It will begin to change as the balance of supply and demand will once again stabilize.

The management and employees of our organization are proud of the communities we serve and look forward to another year of providing a most essential service.

Withdrawals by computer

Federal Home Loan Bank Board Chairman Thomas R. Borman has announced that the Board has adopted a temporary regulation permitting federally-chartered savings and loan associations to apply for board approval to operate experimental place-of-business funds transfer systems.

A place-of-business funds transfer system includes the use of on-line computer terminals located in places of business other than office facilities of the association. A customer of the association may use the terminals to make deposits to or withdrawals from a savings account.

The regulation and any board approval under the regulation terminate July 9, 1974. The regulation requires that the terminals used in the system must be located within the state in which the home office of the association is located, and within 50 miles of the home office or a branch office of the association.

Computer terminals are not considered to be branches or facilities and therefore are not within the branching limits for federal associations in Illinois.

The Cahokia Mound Council annual Scouters' appreciation dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9, at the Trinity Lutheran School, 600 Water St., Edwardsville, will highlight the 64th anniversary observance of the Boy Scouts of America during February.

The dinner will be open to the public and Scout leaders, but is limited to the first 375 making reservations, according to David Fox, chairman of the event. The cost will be $4 per person. Reservations must be made at the local Boy Scout Service Center, 1338a N. Third St., Edwardsville, by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 9.

BURGLARY ON W. 22ND
The lock on the front door of the home of Henry Whitford, 2807 W. 22nd St., was broken and a color television and a stereo, together valued at more than $1,300, were stolen. It was reported at 1 a.m. Saturday. Both doors were left open after the burglary.

Local Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts will hold special dinners and open houses during the month. Many units will tell the stories of their activities through window displays in various stores in the area during February.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SECOND DAUGHTER
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weiler of Pekin, Ill., are announcing the birth of a daughter Jan. 1 at Methodist Hospital in Peoria. The new arrival has been named Kristi Ann. She weighed seven pounds and seven ounces at birth.

Mrs. Weiler will be remembered as the former Judith Kisser of Madison. Kristi Ann is the couple's second child. She has a sister, Kelli Ann. Grandparents are Mrs. Rose Richardson of Madison and Mrs. Mary Weiler of Glen Carbon.

FIRE DAMAGES AUTO
A broken fuel line was believed responsible for a fire which caused about $300 damage to the auto of Edward Rudolph, 2215a Grand Ave., at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the 2706 block of Warren Ave. Granite City firemen extinguished the blaze.

NAMEOKI ACCIDENT
Carolyn Luer, St. Louis, was injured when her car and the auto of Garry McDonald, 2800 Lake Drive, were involved in an accident at Nameoki Road and Sincilar Avenue at 2:15 p.m. Saturday. McDonald was charged with driving without his eye glasses.

Dr. Layloff honored by fellow chemists

Dr. Thomas P. Layloff Jr., 2822 Grand Ave., was honored by area chemists at a dinner in the United States Room at St. Louis University.

The dinner was given by the St. Louis Section of the American Chemical Society of which Dr. Layloff is the retiring chairman.

A few of the society's accomplishments under Dr. Layloff's leadership pointed out at the dinner included: the chartering of an SIUE American Chemical Society student affiliate section; $15,000 yearly endowment from Monsanto Chemical Co. to recognize the outstanding chemist in the area; a $3,000 Marcus Award endowment for the outstanding senior research chemistry student at St. Louis University to be presented yearly by J. J. Marcus, president of the Missouri Analytical Laboratories.

Dr. Layloff is a 1954 graduate of Madison High School and holds undergraduate degrees in both psychology and chemistry from Washington University. He received his PhD in Analytical Chemistry from the University of Kansas. A full professor of chemistry at St. Louis University, he also is vice-chairman of the University Council.

Locally he is active in civic affairs, serving as chairman of the Uniway (Quad-Cities) District, Boy Scouts of America, membership chairman for the Breakfast Kiwanis Club and a volunteer worker in the United Way campaign.

Dr. Marvin Crutchfield, of Monsanto Chemical, is the new chairman. Dr. Crutchfield is active in the St. Louis Boy Scout program.
